Refused Pay Boost; Propose To Tie Up All Administration

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UP)—The government today refused wage boosts for 1,000,000 civil service employees who were scheduled to strike at midnight and practically paralyze French administrative life for a day.

The cabinet countered the wage demands with a warning to leaders of the proposed strike that senior civil service employees would be liable to loss of their jobs if they took part in the walkout.

The strike threat promised to immobilize employees of government ministries, local prefects, radio stations, law courts, post offices, telephone exchanges and customs posts.

Many schools would be closed. Most air transport would be grounded, with weather and administrative personnel walking out. Rail service would not be affected, and such vital public services as hospitals and water-works would be maintained.

GOVERNMENT FIRM

The scheduled strike, plus a threatened clash on Saturday in Paris between Communists and supporters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, marked the first threat to the political and labor tranquility France has enjoyed since the defeat of Communism. Inspired strikes last November.

However, in no way did they threaten seriously the position of Premier Henri Queuille's government.

On Saturday de Gaulle is scheduled to take part in a ceremony sponsored by the Paris Municipal Council, celebrating the ninth anniversary of the launching of the wartime French resistance.

The Avenue D'Orleans, in a working class district of southern Paris, will be renamed for Gen. Philippe Leclerc, whose Free French armored division entered Paris Aug. 24, 1944, along that route.

The Communist-controlled Labor Confederation announced Monday night it would "bar the way" to the ceremony. Communists and De Gaullists have clashed frequently and sometimes bloodily in their long campaign for power.

Faces Eighth Trial

HJALMAR SCHACHT

HANNOVER (UP)—The Lower Saxony Denazification Ministry announced today it soon would bring Hjalmar Schacht into court for the eighth in his long series of denazification hearings.

The way was cleared for the hearing in the British zone Monday, when a tribunal in Ludwigsburg, in the American zone, nullified all previous hearings for the German financial wizard and declared he has not been denazified.

The former Reichsbank president and financial adviser to Adolf Hitler asked for a hearing in Lower Saxony soon after he moved from the U.S. to the British zone last October. The Lower Saxony court said it could take no action so long as a hearing was pending in the U.S. zone.

Western Berlin's Railway Workers Spurn Peace Plan

BERLIN (AP)—Early returns indicated tonight that West Berlin railway workers had voted overwhelmingly to continue their rail strike which started 24 days ago.

The vote on a compromise proposal to end the walkout was held during the day. With almost half the vote counted the number favoring a return to their jobs was so small as to be virtually negligible.

The striking union announced the completion of the count in seven districts showed:

For continuation of the strike, 5,572; against continuation, 949.

The strike is directed against the Russian-controlled railway system. The compromise plan on which the anti-Communist strikers balloted was sponsored by all four occupying powers.

Despite predictions by union leaders of a favorable vote, there was concerted resistance. Placards were installed at polling places urging workmen to turn down the compromise and vote to continue the strike.

Representatives of the strikers Sunday over-rode their own top leaders and turned down a United States appeal for an immediate end to the crippling walkout.

Instead, the 600 union officials voted overwhelmingly to refer the settlement terms to a referendum. Seventy-five per cent of the membership must vote to continue the walkout, or it is automatically called off.

Nfld. Premier Summoned To Appear In Court Thursday

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Four summonses were issued against Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland today to appear in court on charges of intimidation of voters.

Magistrate Hugh O'Neill issued the summonses at the request of W. J. Browne, Progressive Conservative candidate in the federal riding of St. John's West, on behalf of four residents of the area. The Premier will be asked to appear in court Thursday.

The magistrate refused to issue warrants for Mr. Smallwood's arrest, asked for by Mr. Browne when he made his submission Monday following campaign speeches by the Premier in the Ferryland district of the riding.

Magistrate O'Neill said his decision was made under the Summary Jurisdiction Act of 1930-31. That act allows summonses to be issued in a case without the magistrate going into its merits.

In court Monday Mr. Browne said the Premier had exerted "undue influence" in campaign speeches in the south coast region of Ferryland. The warrants for Mr. Smallwood's arrest were asked for on behalf of four residents in Ferryland.

Mr. Smallwood said later in a statement he had made the remarks in a "bantering manner." Mr. Browne charged the Premier had said no public money would be spent in the area during the next four years unless the people voted for the Liberal candidate.

This was contrary, said Mr. Browne, to the provisions of the Dominion Elections Act.

Monday's court action followed charges by Mr. Browne that he had "lost my job" because he opposed Mr. Smallwood's policies. To this, Mr. Smallwood said Mr. Browne had resigned just in time to save him from dismissal because he was "unfit to fulfill the judicial functions of the bench."

Farmers Suffer Revenue Losses

Reports tell of a serious shrinkage in the total milk production in Ontario since the beginning of the drought, now in its 19th day. Above is a glimpse of cattle in one of the affected areas.

Canada House Picketed By Striking Canadian Seamen

LONDON (CP)—Canada House was picketed today by striking members of the Canadian Seamen's Union.

They patrolled the eastern side of the short block which is taken up largely by the Dominion government building and an insurance company building.

The pickets bore placards which said in bold lettering: "Mourn murdered Canadian seamen" and "More Canadian martyrs for unionism." They distributed pamphlets to passers-by.

The demonstration was orderly and police did not interfere.

Last week C.S.U. members picketed the United States Embassy and distributed handbills saying three members of the union had been found dead in Los Angeles.

Bodies of two Canadian seamen have been found in San Pedro, Cal. harbor during the last nine weeks. The death of Leonard Richards of Vancouver, whose body was found April 9, was listed as an accident or suicide. Cause of death of Herve Beauchene of Montreal, whose body was found June 6, has not been determined.

Discovery Of Oil In Italy Reported

MILAN (Reuters)—Discovery of an Italian oil-field which "might lead to a profound transformation in the country's economy" was announced Monday night by Enrico Mattei, member of the Chamber of Deputies.

Mattei said the discovery was made at Cortemaggiore, about 20 miles from Piacenza in the Po Valley.

Describing the find as "extremely important," he said there is an oil layer 7½ miles long and 2½ miles wide, with an average depth of nearly one mile.

Ontario Drought Drags On; Only Faint Hopes Of Rain

TORONTO (BUP)—Promises of rain had still failed to materialize today in the drought-stricken areas of Ontario.

As the province broiled its way into the 19th day of disastrous drought, weary farmers looked to the sky for some relief from the record dry spell. But the weatherman brought only faint hopes again today that some rain would come.

Across the province, farmers counted up an estimated damage well over the $100,000,000 mark and each day sees the toll mount higher.

Hardest hit by the 18 days of drought were hay, strawberries, tomatoes, potatoes, turnips, peas and beans.

Prospects for increased prices on Ontario-grown fruits and vegetables were seen in the wake of the searing sun. Shortage of supply and continued demand, Toronto retailers said, would be sure to send price tags upwards. Sharing the grief with the farmers, were the municipal water systems. Throughout the dry area, orders were issued prohibiting the use of garden hose. Officials reported reservoirs in many communities were becoming dangerously low.

British Railway Operators Meet Leaders Of Union

LONDON (AP)—Railway executives and union leaders met today to map plans for heading off a railway "slowdown" scheduled for July 4.

Workers on London's surface and underground rail lines have threatened to begin a slowdown then unless they are granted a raise of 10 shillings ($2) a week. The slowdown, railway officials said, would choke the rail lines of London, and "may spread to the rest of the country."

The National Union of Railwaymen met today with leaders of a wildcat series of Sunday strikes which has stopped most north-south trains for the last four week-ends. The strikers are engineers and firemen who are protesting overnight stops away from home.

West Country Dockers Work

BRISTOL (Reuters)—The 2,000 Bristol and Avonmouth dockers, who had stopped all work in these two ports for the last month in support of Canadian Seamen's Union strikers, decided today to go back tomorrow.

The men voted for a general return to work as 1,000 troops continued to discharge cargoes from about half of the 30 vessels held up in port.

The dockers' decision followed a Ministry of Transport announcement that it would not permit troops to be used to load a Canadian ship, the Montreal City, with an export cargo. The dockers earlier had expressed hope that the troops would do this work and the ship would sail.

As the whole dispute has centered on this ship—because it is manned by a crew of Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) members—the dockers would then have been able to return to work without changing their stand.

Ask Loyalty Oaths

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Ohio House of Representatives Monday night approved a bill requiring loyalty oaths from every public employee in the state. The vote was 104 to 15. School teachers are included in the "public employee" category. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Youth Loses Leg

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Dallas Jenks, 16, lost a leg and may have the other amputated as a result of a sawmill accident Monday. The youth "walked" into a head-saw.

May Call Emergency

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government today was reported considering invoking a "state of emergency" law to combat "political" strikes. Current labor unrest has been blamed on the Communists.

U.S. Freighter Aground

ACAPULCO (AP)—Mexican naval authorities reported today the U.S. freighter Oshkosh Victory was aground off Cacagua, Mexico, near Galera Point. These said they had received no formal request for aid for the ship. The lumber-laden Victory ship was reported high on the beach, with another ship standing by, ready to attempt to pull her off.

Spend Over $400,000 To Expand Telephone System In Victoria

Current B.C. Telephone Company expansion work in Victoria involves an expenditure of more than $400,000 on additional central office and outside plant facilities.

Technicians have been working for some time on the installation of approximately 2,000 lines of additional automatic equipment in the Empire, Garden and Beacon units of the Victoria central office, company officials state.

Costing in the neighborhood of $350,000, this equipment is expected to be in operation later this year, with more already on order for further expansion.

Cable extensions in various parts of the city, involving a total expenditure of nearly $60,000, were recently completed. In carrying out this project, line-men placed over 31,000 feet of small and large gauge cable containing nearly 11,000,000 feet of wire. Additional cable is on order for further outside plant extensions.

Cable worth $15,000 is being placed in Colquitz, and both cable and additional switchboard are on order for Colquitz, Albion and Belmont.

Incendiary Fire At Hilliers Being Investigated By Police

Gasoline and paper fuses were used by unknown arsonists to burn down the St. John's Anglican Women's Guild Hall, known as the Community Hall, at Hilliers Sunday, B.C. Police report.

Only two brick chimneys remain standing. Building is only 30 yards from the Doukhobor settlement home.

Provincial Police are continuing investigations today. They have exhibits in their possession which are proof the fire was of incendiary origin.

Investigations are being directed by Insp. Richard B. Harvey, head of the C.I.B. of the force at Victoria headquarters.

This was the successful attempt in two to burn down the hall. Last August a fire was set there but was unsuccessful. However, a colony kitchen and a school were burned.

Belief that prowlers were in the area shortly before the 1:30 a.m. fire, was expressed by members of the community.

Provincial Police in Victoria said the fire had similar features to other blazes that have been charged against fanatics of the Doukhobor sect.

Joe Podovnikoff, Doukhobor spokesman, said members had not investigated the reason why watch dogs within the settlement compound were restless and barking.

He said members of the community were at Cumberland Saturday night for a folk festival. On the previous other two occasions of destruction by fire in the neighborhood, he pointed out, Doukhobors had been attending functions outside the settlement walls.

Fire was started at the rear of the building. It was observed by Lloyd Coombs at Coombs, four miles away. Forest rangers from Ouellet responded to his alarm. They were unable to save the building but took steps to prevent the spread of the fire to nearby timber.

Charges Of Violence Against Strikers At Asbestos May Be Off

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Herald said today it had learned that more than 150 charges against striking asbestos miners as a result of violence in early May in Asbestos, Que., apparently will be dropped, but the Crown will proceed against 12 alleged leaders on charges of conspiracy.

The asbestos miners have been on strike since Feb. 13 in a demand for an increase of 15 cents to $1 an hour and union security.

The Herald said official confirmation of reports that minor charges would be dropped could not be confirmed. But said it understood the reason for the planned withdrawal of these charges is an attempt to speed settlement of the walkout which has paralyzed the economy of the whole Asbestos area where some 5,000 members of the Asbestos Workers' Federation (Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor) are on strike.

Volunteers Avert Major Blaze As Shawnigan Bungalow Burns

An elderly Shawnigan resident was forced to flee in her night attire about 1:30 this morning when the three-room bungalow in which she was staying was destroyed by fire.

Mrs. M. Lister, was sleeping in a house belonging to Mrs. J. Collier-Wright when she was awakened by the sound of flames near the radio.

The house was located at the south end of Shawnigan Lake in the area known as Don's Camp.

Mrs. Lister fled from the house and notified neighbors of the blaze. The volunteer fire department from Shawnigan village, seven miles away, and Robert Ross, B.C. police constable responded.

According to Const. Ross, speedy work of the fire department, under Ray Dougan, plus the absence of any wind, prevented the fire from spreading to surrounding trees and adjacent dwellings in the closely-clustered group.

The fire department used its pump truck to pump water from the lake, which is only a few yards away from the site of the house.

Members of the fire department present, in addition to Mr. Dougan, were Eric Gibson, Walter Elford, James McAllister and A. Lee. G. C. Cheeke, forest ranger, was also at the scene.

Const. Ross said today Mrs. Lister lost all her personal belongings in the fire.

Record Vote Forecast For B.C. Election

A record vote was forecast today for the provincial general election Wednesday.

Persons in charge of the election predicted that 75 to 80 per cent of the 649,264 registered electors will go to the polls between 8 in the morning and 8 at night, to choose the 22nd Legislative Assembly of British Columbia.

The weatherman has predicted clear skies throughout the province.

The 138 candidates seeking election to the 48-seat Legislature today are putting the finishing touches on their campaigns. A few will make last minute appeals to the voters at rallies tonight. Others rounded out their formal campaigns Monday night.

The electors will choose either a Coalition or a C.C.F. administration. A majority of the people are confident the Coalition administration of Premier Byron Johnson, the provincial Liberal leader, and Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb, the B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, will be returned.

Both the Coalition and the C.C.F. have candidates contesting all 48 seats. Other groups with partial slates of candidates are the Social Credit, contesting 16 seats; Union of Electors, 12 seats; Labor Progressive Party, two, and Independents.

At dissolution the Coalition held 36 seats, the C.C.F. 11 and Labor one.

Big Increase In List

The big increase in the number of eligible voters since the 1945 general election assures a record vote. Almost 200,000 names have been added to the election lists, through the growth in the population of the province and enfranchisement of native Indians, Japanese, Chinese and East Indians.

In 1945 only 65 per cent of the electorate exercised the franchise. Voting was on Oct. 25 in weather, including rain and snow in some constituencies, which was considered unfavorable for a big vote.

The Coalition, claiming the issue of the election is free enterprise vs. Socialism, is appealing to the electorate on what it describes as its business-like administration and huge expansion program. Coalition speakers

Farmer Drowned By Rampaging Bull

THERESA, N.Y. (AP)—Melvin Calhoun, 37, was drowned Monday when carried into the Indian River on the horns of a rampaging bull. The animal swam to safety.

Calhoun grabbed the bull by the horns in an attempt to drive it from a pasture. The bull, with Calhoun still grasping its horns, plunged into the stream and started swimming for the other shore. Calhoun relaxed his grip and sank from sight in midstream.

All Three Voters Prepare To Ballot

It won't take long for the voters of Gordon River polling division to cast their ballots Wednesday in the provincial general election. Nor will the deputy returning officer need any adding machines to total up the votes.

Gordon River, a regularly constituted polling division has but four registered voters and one of them has left the community since the voters' list was prepared. H. K. Bate, returning officer for Esquimalt, reported today.

South of Lake Cowichan, Gordon River was formerly in the Cowichan-Newcastle electoral district but was recently moved into the Esquimalt district.

Mr. Bate believes it has fewer voters than any other polling division in the province.

Newfoundland Premier Must Answer Charges

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Four summonses were issued against Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland today to appear in court on charges of intimidation of voters.

Magistrate Hugh O'Neill issued the summonses at the request of W. J. Browne, Progressive Conservative candidate in the federal riding of St. John's West, on behalf of four residents of the area. The Premier will be asked to appear in court Thursday.

The magistrate refused to issue warrants for Mr. Smallwood's arrest, asked for by Mr. Browne when he made his submission Monday following campaign speeches by the Premier in the Ferryland district of the riding.

Magistrate O'Neill said his decision was made under the Summary Jurisdiction Act of 1930-31. That act allows summonses to be issued in a case without the magistrate going into its merits.

Magistrate O'Neill said the applications had required careful study on his part because of possible implications of the Canadian Criminal Code as well as the Dominion Elections Act.

The summonses call on Mr. Smallwood to appear in court to answer the same complaint that you, the said defendant at Ferryland, in the federal riding of St. John's West on the 9th day of June, 1949, did by himself directly commit the corrupt practice of undue influence by practising intimidation on voters.

Voters who made the complaint were Walter Sweeney, Thomas Dunn, Matthew Kenny and Dennis Brothers, residents of Ferryland, Fernese North, Crossroads and Admirals Cove, all south coast communities.

Mr. Browne said Jeff Stirling and Don Jamieson, publisher and reporter of the weekly Sunday Herald, were witnesses to Mr. Smallwood's talks.

There was no immediate statement from Premier Smallwood. He earlier had discounted the charges of vote intimidation. He said his remarks at Ferryland were made in a bantering manner and had been received in the same way by his audience, who

Berlin Railway Workers Refuse To Appease Reds

BERLIN (AP)—Western Berlin railway workers today voted six to one to continue their strike rather than knuckle under to a Communist threat of reprisals.

Only a three-quarters majority was needed to assure continuation of the strike which has become in effect a "little blockade" of Berlin. The strike started 24 days ago.

The striking union announced the results of day-long balloting on a compromise proposal as follows:

For continuation of the strike, 12,626; against continuation, 2,085.

SPONSORED BY U.S.

The plan which was voted down was worked out by the United States and had the approval of the other three occupying powers—Britain, France and Russia. The workers voted after Soviet-licensed newspapers renewed threats of reprisals against the strikers.

Despite predictions by union leaders of a favorable vote, there was concerted resistance. Placards were installed at polling places urging workmen to turn down the compromise and vote to continue the strike.

Representatives of the strikers Sunday over-rode their own top leaders and turned down a United States appeal for an immediate end to the crippling walkout.

Instead, the 600 union officials voted overwhelmingly to refer the settlement terms to a referendum. Seventy-five per cent of the membership must vote to continue the walkout, or it is automatically called off.

At Least 10 Dead In Dallas County From Flash Floods

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Storms and floods in and near Dallas County took at least 10 lives today. One other person was missing.

Four drowned at Garland, northeast of Dallas, trapped by the swirling waters of Duck Creek. Ten inches of rain fell at Garland.

In northwest Dallas County, a Frisco freight train piled into a washout near Farmers Branch. A boy drowned during a storm in Denton County, north Texas.

Three teenage youths were killed at the outskirts of Fort Worth when their car and a Missouri Pacific freight train collided in a blinding rainstorm.

During a flashingly brilliant electrical storm John Kenneth Martin, 49, was struck by an automobile in Dallas. The driver said he hadn't seen Martin in the rain. Sallie, Punell, three months old, suffocated in her crib after lightning had knocked out lights at her parents' home.

Property and crop damage was tremendous. Duck Creek rose into a shopping village at Garland, washed away stocks and battered buildings. Constable C. R. Smith said a million dollars in damage was wrought at Garland. A hundred persons were rescued in boats. Scores of others escaped to high ground.

PARIS (AP)—The western powers today proposed to Russia the formation of a four-power commission for Germany with strictly defined functions of supervision.

The council session recessed abruptly after the proposal had been made, an hour after the meeting started. Foreign Minister Vishinsky of Russia and his delegation left the pink marble-palace and the western delegations stayed on.

But, western officials said, it was no walkout. They said the day's proceedings had been extremely good humored.

Vishinsky and his staff returned to the Pink Palace after an absence of two hours and five minutes. It was assumed the conference had reconvened—possibly for Vishinsky's answer to the western proposals. The Western ministers had not left in the interim.

The ministers are reported nearing the end of their meetings here.

Today's meeting was a restricted one—that is, no press conferences will be held after the meeting ends.

The departure of Vishinsky after an hour may have been because he wanted to prepare an answer for the West to their proposals on formation of the four-power commission, comprising the three western high commissioners for Germany and the Soviet zonal military governor.

The function of the agency, the western officials said, would be to consult on economic matters which are of common concern, to encourage trade and commerce in Germany, to speed the movement of goods between Berlin and the various zones and to settle specific quarrels as they arise.

Economic experts of the four occupying powers in Berlin Monday handed to the Foreign Ministers the east-west deadlock in the German capital. A western expert in Berlin, said the report to Paris showed about 90 per cent agreement on small matters and 100 per cent disagreement on the important issues.

Civil Servants Of France To Paralyze Nation For Day

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UP)—The government today refused wage boosts for 1,000,000 civil service employees who were scheduled to strike at midnight and practically paralyze French administrative life for a day.

The cabinet countered the wage demands with a warning to leaders of the proposed strike that senior civil service employees would be liable to loss of their jobs if they took part in the walkout.

The strike threat promised to immobilize employees of government ministries, local prefects, radio stations, law courts, post offices, telephone exchanges and customs posts.

Many schools would be closed. Most air transport would be grounded, with weather and administrative personnel walking out. Rail service would not be affected, and such vital public services as hospitals and waterworks would be maintained.

The scheduled strike, plus a threatened clash on Saturday in Paris between Communists and supporters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, marked the first threat to the political and labor tranquility France has enjoyed since the defeat of Communism. Inspired strikes last November.

However, in no way did they threaten seriously the position of Premier Henri Queuille's government.

On Saturday de Gaulle is scheduled to take part in a ceremony sponsored by the Paris Municipal Council, celebrating the ninth anniversary of the launching of the wartime French resistance.

The Avenue D'Orleans, in a working class district of southern Paris, will be renamed for Gen. Philippe Leclerc, whose Free French armored division entered Paris Aug. 24, 1944, along that route.

The Communist-controlled Labor Confederation announced Monday night it would "bar the way" to the ceremony. Communists and de Gaullists have clashed frequently and sometimes bloodily in their long campaign for power.

Tenders Opened For Big B.C. Office Building Here

The provincial works department today received tenders for the general contract and heating works for the new permanent provincial government office building to be erected at Government and Elliot Streets here.

The building, which will be constructed of concrete, will have four stories above the ground and a basement. It will cover most of the block.

The lowest tender for the general contract was that of Dawson and Hall, Ltd.: $1,012,308. Other bids were submitted as follows: Bennet and White Construction Co. Ltd., $1,062,832; Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd., $1,068,614; Northern Construction Co. Ltd. and J. W. Stewart Ltd., $1,089,000; and Marwell Construction Co. Ltd., $1,098,000.

Several of the tenderers for the general contract submitted alternate bids for aluminum sash and linoleum instead of another type of floor covering.

The bids submitted for the boilers were not comparable because different types of equipment were offered. The bids were: Foster Wheeler Ltd., St. Catharines Ont., $174,513; Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., $180,079; $226,914 and $201,144; Vancouver Iron Works Ltd., $173,757 and $216,732 and C. C. Moore and Co. Ltd., Vancouver, $177,000.

For piping and ancillary works the following tenders were submitted. In each case the first figure represents the cost with three boilers; the second for four boilers: C. J. McDowell Plumbing and Heating Ltd., $65,670 and $69,624; W. R. Menzies and Co., $60,056 and $62,789; and Yarrow's Ltd., $100,648 and $104,959.

The heating and ventilating tenders were as follows: W. R. Menzies and Co. Ltd., $49,667; C. J. McDowell Plumbing and Heating Ltd., $55,590; Lockertie and Hole Ltd., Vancouver, $56,956; and Barr and Anderson Ltd., Vancouver, $58,500.

The government has yet to call tenders for the electrical installation in the building.

ELEPHANT OIL

RECENT ALLUSIONS in this column to various kinds of rackets, ranging from pyramid clubs and chain letters to bootleg false teeth, led an anonymous reader to send me a clipping about a long-ago racket which was tried out in St. Thomas.

Sixty years ago, a butcher of that Ontario town, named Sam Smith, hit upon the bright idea of selling 400 pounds of elephant oil to the gullible, souvenir-mad public at a cost of 50 cents for a small bottle.

Now, I have heard of so-called "banana oil" as a lure for the gullible, but it's the first time I have heard of elephant oil. And this wasn't even ordinary elephant oil, at that. For it came from the carcass of Jumbo, the famous pachyderm of Barnum and Bailey's circus.

HISTORIC ANIMAL

ACCORDING to the story, recounted by Mabel Burkholder, Sam hoped to make $75,000 on his queer scheme to make easy money. I don't know how the venture fared, but this bit of animal history may be of more than passing interest to all who love circuses, as well as to former Ontarians.

Jumbo was an East African elephant of extraordinary size when he arrived at the London zoo about 1862. He was 11½ feet high and weighed 7½ tons. P. T. Barnum, the celebrated showman, was so taken with Jumbo that he bought him from the zoo for $10,000.

But when they tried to move the great beast it refused to budge—and by the time Barnum landed it (in the United States) it had cost $30,000. However, Jumbo proved such a popular curiosity in those days that in three weeks his new owner was reimbursed for the outlay.

KILLED BY TRAIN

JUMBO HAD ATTAINED the ripe age of 25 years when he met his death at St. Thomas in 1883. The Grand Trunk agent at that point had assured the circus people that no trains would run over the track for an hour. So the time was used in removing the animals from their box cars.

But the agent had forgotten a special freight train. Jumbo saw the headlight and lumbered off the tracks. The keeper ordered him back and the elephant, despite its own better judgment, obeyed and walked headlong into the oncoming train, with fatal results to itself and to the freight.

The engine was damaged and four cars derailed. At the repair shops in Hamilton, the iron effigy of an elephant was attached to its front and it henceforth became known as "The Jumbo."

JUMBO JUMBLE

THAT'S WHERE MR. SMITH, the butcher, came on the scene, so to speak. Barnum, on learning of Jumbo's death, sent a taxidermist to superintend the saving of the skin and bones, with a view to mounting the skeleton for exhibition purposes.

Mr. Smith was one of the butchers assigned to the job of cutting up the huge carcass. Incidentally, it is recorded that the animal's stomach was certainly a jumbo jumble as far as its contents were concerned.

A peck of stones the size of hen's eggs, numerous keys, rings, buttons, and a collection of coins from most of the civilized countries of the world, including British shillings, American dimes and quarters, German marks and French francs, attested to Jumbo's hoarding instinct.

WHISTLE-STOP?

AND I CHUCKLED to note that this collection of ill-gotten gains was topped by an English policeman's whistle—although there was no trace of his helmet or night-stick!

It was while working on the carcass—a job that took 15 hours—that Mr. Smith had his bright idea of easy money. The choice bits of fat, golden in color and with its own peculiar odor, suggested a way of greasing his own pockets with gold. So he bought out the rights of the other butchers.

All of which suggests that, as there is evidently more than one way of killing an elephant, so there is more than one way of "skinning" the public.

Deadlock Between Dollar, Sterling Areas Gets Worse

QUEBEC (C.P.) — Henry G. Birks, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said here that the longer the present deadlock between the dollar and sterling areas is allowed to continue, the more difficult rapprochement becomes.

He was addressing a plenary session of the International Chamber of Commerce, which on Monday opened week-long business sessions. Some 600 delegates from 25 countries are attending.

Earlier, Henry J. Heinz II, chairman of the United States Council of the I.C.C., delivered an address in which he spoke strongly against trade restrictions and Mr. Birks commented:

"As a representative of one of the countries whose governments have found it necessary to introduce certain commodity controls on imports in order to try to restore a healthy balance of payments position with the United States, I find myself agreeing with a great deal Mr. Heinz said about harmful long-term effects of such restrictions."

"However, like many other people in governments or outside them, I am still looking for an answer to the problem."

"More than most countries, Canada is caught between the rims of the two great money blocks in the world. . . . Unless some answer is found to the present deadlock in the matter of converting pounds sterling into dollars, Canada will be greatly retarded in realizing her magnificent natural potentialities."

"Many conflicting suggestions have been put forward as to how multilateral trade is to be achieved. But this much at least is plain, that the longer the present deadlock between the dollar and sterling areas is allowed to continue, the more difficult rapprochement becomes."

Saanich Irrigation Survey Assured, Ash Tells Electors

The C.C.F. is so confused on the sales tax that some are advocating its abolition while others are saying it will be progressively removed when they come to power, Arthur J. R. Ash, Coalition candidate in Saanich, told an election rally Monday night in the Women's Institute Hall, Brentwood.

"The promises of the C.C.F. are vague and meaningless," said Mr. Ash. "One wonders just what their platform is in this province."

And referring to his C.C.F. opponent, Martin Neilson, Mr. Ash said:

"This gentleman has been making some of the wildest statements on public matters. Either he knows nothing of what he is talking about or he is attempting to mislead the voters of Saanich."

"As a former school trustee his knowledge of what our education department is doing is sadly lacking and I would recommend that he get his facts correct before making public statements."

Mr. Ash lashed out against Mr. Neilson for claiming that he was not going to use the Saanich irrigation problem as a political football. Mr. Ash recalled that he had advocated an irrigation scheme long before he had been elected and so far he had been instrumental in securing from the government a definite promise that an engineering survey would be carried out.

"The C.C.F. candidate sees fit to belittle this effort which is of vital concern to this riding but it is not a surprising line for the C.C.F. candidates to take," he said. "Anything that may be suggested by members of the Coalition government is just so much eyewash to them."

"I appeal to the voters of Saanich: Weigh our record as against the C.C.F.'s wild statements and you should have no trouble deciding in your own mind who should be trusted with the responsibility of government."

Italian Film Opens

"Shoe Shine," Italian-made topical drama dealing with the shattering problem of what is happening to the youth of present-day Europe, opened at the Rio Theatre today.

The picture tells the story of two street urchins who, in an effort to realize their dream of owning a beautiful white horse, become involved in a black market operations of postwar Rome. The two leading roles are portrayed by Rinaldo Smordoni and Franco Interlenghi, both of whom were discovered when they were shining G.I.'s shoes on the streets of Rome.

St. Laurent Calls For Big Majority; Drew Criticizes Smallwood's Tactics

By CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister St. Laurent, recovered from an attack of laryngitis, resumed his campaign with addresses in towns on Montreal's outskirts. His three speeches Monday were brief. In the evening at Farnham, he asked for a vote for "official Liberal candidates," observing that divisions had occurred in neighboring ridings.

Mr. St. Laurent said that when the election is over he must have the confidence of a majority of the population. Without support of a majority in Parliament, it would be impossible to carry out the responsibilities of office.

The Prime Minister said the Progressive Conservatives had made "rather fantastic" accusations, but their only real policy is devaluation of the dollar, which would increase the price of Canadian imports making up an important share of the commodities used by Canadian consumers.

In his three speeches during the day, Mr. St. Laurent spoke quietly and close to microphones, taking full advantage of loudspeakers. A Quebec throat specialist, Dr. Jacques Audet, was with the Prime Minister's party and followed Mr. St. Laurent's addresses attentively.

Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew at Ottawa challenged Prime Minister St. Laurent to assure Newfoundland that no one has the right to threaten any voter.

Mr. Drew read a report by the St. John's Sunday Herald of speeches by Liberal Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland, in which Mr. Smallwood was quoted as telling various meetings: "You have turned me down three times. Ferryland has voted against me in two referendums and in the provincial election, but I won in spite of you. Now I don't need you. I've been elected. But you need me. I'm sitting on top of the public chest and not one red cent will come out if it for Ferryland district unless (Liberal) Greg Power is elected."

Mr. Drew said that "for cold calculated threats by a little man in a big job this is the worst I have ever seen. . . . I challenge the Prime Minister to give assurances to the people of Newfoundland that no one has the right to threaten any voter in Canada."

The skates are made for her of Sheffield steel in England, but her shoes are made in the United States.

Although she owns five pairs of skates, one pair is her favorite, and is the one she uses most of the time. It is the pair she used in "The Hunted," Allied Artists' dramatic production which co-stars her with Preston Foster, and is now at the Plaza Theatre.

Canada House Picketed By Striking Canadian Seamen

LONDON (CP)—Canada House was picketed today by striking members of the Canadian Seamen's Union.

They patrolled the eastern side of the short block which is taken up largely by the Dominion government building and an insurance company building.

The pickets bore placards which said in bold lettering: "Mourn murdered Canadian seamen" and "More Canadian martyrs for unionism." They distributed pamphlets to passers-by.

The demonstration was orderly and police did not interfere.

Last week C.S.U. members picketed the United States Embassy and distributed handbills saying three members of the union had been found dead in Los Angeles.

Bodies of two Canadian seamen have been found in San Pedro, Cal., harbor during the last nine weeks. The death of Leonard Richards of Vancouver, whose body was found April 9, was listed as an accident or suicide. Cause of death of Herve Beauchamp of Montreal, whose body was found June 6, has not been determined.

Vancouver Man Dies In Blast On Boat

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 34-year-old Vancouver contractor, Pat Waters, was drowned Monday when his cabin cruiser exploded in the middle of the Fraser River. Fishermen nearby at the time of the accident saw a sudden explosion on the 24-foot craft and Waters then leaped out. He was pulled down by the swirling current before help could reach him. Waters is survived by his wife, Frances, and a five-year-old son.

Volunteers Avert Major Blaze As Shawnigan Bungalow Burns

An elderly Shawnigan resident was forced to flee in her night attire about 1.30 this morning when the three-room bungalow in which she was staying was destroyed by fire.

Mrs. M. Lister was sleeping in a house belonging to Mrs. J. Collier-Wright when she was awakened by the sound of flames near the radio.

The house was located at the south end of Shawnigan Lake in the area known as Don's Camp.

Mrs. Lister fled from the house and notified neighbors of the blaze. The volunteer fire department from Shawnigan village, seven miles away, and Robert Ross, B.C. police constable responded.

According to Const. Ross, speedy work of the fire department, under Ray Dougan, plus the absence of any wind, prevented the fire from spreading to surrounding trees and adjacent dwellings in the closely-clustered group.

The fire department used its pump truck to pump water from the lake, which is only a few yards away from the site of the house.

Members of the fire department present, in addition to Mr. Dougan, were Eric Gibson, Walter Elford, James McAllister and A. Lee. G. C. Cheeke, forest ranger, was also at the scene.

Const. Ross said today Mrs. Lister lost all her personal belongings in the fire.

A.P. Man Out Of Peiping Says Reds Ended 'Squeeze'

This is the first dispatch from Spencer Moosa, Associated Press correspondent in Peiping since the Chinese capital was taken in January. He is en route to Canton with his family.

By SPENCER MOOSA

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Up to the time I left Peiping last week the Chinese Communists had shown no signs of lifting the ban against foreign correspondents.

The ban was imposed Feb. 27. On that day 17 persons listed as foreign correspondents received a formal order forbidding them to gather or file news. It was signed by Gen. Yeh Chien, head of the Communist military committee.

This action, the notification said, was taken because Peiping was a military area. Why it had not been taken four weeks earlier when the Communists first occupied Peiping was not explained.

DID NOT REPLY

A letter to Gen. Yeh asking him to say when the ban might be lifted went unanswered. Faced with a wall of silence, correspondents began to leave North China, and today only a handful still are there. Whether they will be able to file news again is problematical.

Permission was granted readily to correspondents wishing to leave. Correspondents' only channel of communication was the alien affairs office at police headquarters.

It was safe to conclude that the Communists were glad to see the correspondents go. Independent reporting in North China was a thing of the past.

The Communists came into the great cities of Peiping and Tientsin not as "carpetbaggers" but with determined plans to break the craft and corruption of the past.

Even foreigners opposed to Communism concede Red leaders have displayed none of the get-rich tendencies of previous conquerors. They are convinced, too, that these leaders would take stern action against any of their own number who might be found succumbing to the lure of easy wealth.

It generally was agreed that the day of high officials openly amassing immense private fortunes by graft are over. Most people who pay taxes are sure now is illegally diverted.

HOTEL RENTED

Foreigners who have had business dealings with the Communist bureaus report the question of "squeeze" never has entered. Official receipts are given and no secret rebates are demanded.

The North China Hotel manager who rented his premises to the Communists said the whole deal was open and above board. "I have been in this country many years," he said, "and this was the first time no one asked for 'squeeze'."

Other foreigners tell similar stories and are incredulous. Even the normally cynical old China hands admit a good start has been made. They hope it will be maintained. But there are many doubting Thomases. They argue the "squeeze" for so long has been a not dishonorable feature of Chinese life and wonder if a leopard can change his spots.

Postmistress Took Peek At Letters

STEEPLE ASHTON, Wiltshire, Eng. (AP)—What was in the letter the vicar wrote to the young ladies?

Postmistress Mary Tye had an itch to know. She was fined £100 ($400) Monday for opening letters to find out—and now there's a new postmistress.

"I was curious," she told the local court. "I knew I was doing wrong, but the practice grew on me and I found I could not resist." She said she went on from opening the vicar's letters to peeking at others.

Mrs. Tye said she never told anybody what she had found out. Col. J. F. E. Pye, chairman of the court, told Mrs. Tye: "The whole fabric of this village's life might have been undermined by your action."

Brazil was discovered and settled by the Portuguese, who gave the country its language.

Union Of Electors Disgruntled Tories, Says C.C.F. Candidate

The Union of Electors candidates are disgruntled Conservatives trying to split the Coalition, Miss Phyllis Webb, C.C.F. candidate, said in her final election campaign address here this afternoon.

"How else can they explain why two of them are still members of the Progressive Conservative Party," the Victoria C.C.F. candidate for the Wednesday general election, asked. "I suggest that if these old Tories want to split the Coalition they just keep on walking down the garden path with Johnson."

Miss Webb described the sales tax as "unjust, outmoded and regressive" and said "it was a perfect example of the present government's complete lack of interest in the consumer, especially the low-income bracket consumer."

She said the C.C.F. would remove the sales tax from meals, clothing, household essentials, drug sundries, school books, municipal purchases and hospital and other institutional supplies.

Mrs. Patricia Luchinsky, C.C.F. Oak Bay candidate, accepted the challenge of Finance Minister Anscomb that the C.C.F. cannot remove the tax. Speaking at the same meeting she said the C.C.F. would remove the tax at once from necessities and complete as income from royalties and other sources increased under C.C.F. policies.

She recalled that the Coalition had turned down 14 resolutions introduced by the C.C.F. to improve social security, to provide for rent control and low-rental housing.

Neil Neufeld Named

Based on recommendations from the scholarship committee of Victoria College, Neil J. Neufeld was voted winner of the $100 Gyro Scholarship by club members at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel Monday.

Scholarship is awarded annually to the college student showing a combination of outstanding leadership, good academic standing and ability in athletics.

The 22-year-old student was recently elected president of the College Student's Council organization for the 1949-50 term. He is an ex-serviceman, having spent three years as a radar operator in the Royal Canadian Navy.

Mr. Neufeld plans to take an honors course in psychology next year. He gained an average of 77.2 per cent in academic studies this year.

Advance Guard Of Circus In Town

The Dalley Bros. Circus advance car arrived in town today in charge of Earl DeGlopper and press agent Robert E. Burns, with a corps of 30 bill posters and window billers to advertise the five-day circus which will be featured at Victoria West Park for three days commencing June 29.

The show, which operates out of Gonzales, Texas, is rated as one of the best circus programs on the road. The usual buffoonery is provided by an array of clowns. Wild animal acts are plentiful featuring a 25-elephant contingent with its five-ton giants, and then there will be trick riding, steer roping and other outstanding acts.

Faces Eighth Trial

HJALMAR SCHACHT

HANNOVER (UP)—The Lower Saxony Denazification Ministry announced today it soon would bring Hjalmar Schacht into court for the eighth in his long series of denazification hearings.

The way was cleared for the hearing in the British zone Monday, when a tribunal in Ludwigsburg, in the American zone, nullified all previous hearings for the German financial wizard and declared he has not been denazified.

The former Reichsbank president and financial adviser to Adolf Hitler asked for a hearing in Lower Saxony soon after he moved from the U.S. to the British zone last October. The Lower Saxony court said it could take no action so long as a hearing was pending in the U.S. zone.

Discovery Of Oil In Italy Reported

MILAN (Reuter)—Discovery of an Italian oil-field which "might lead to a profound transformation in the country's economy" was announced Monday night by Enrico Mattei, member of the Chamber of Deputies.

Mattei said the discovery was made at Cortemaggiore, about 20 miles from Piacenza in the Po Valley.

Describing the find as "extremely important," he said there is an oil layer 7½ miles long and 2½ miles wide, with an average depth of nearly one mile.

She recalled that the Coalition had turned down 14 resolutions introduced by the C.C.F. to improve social security, to provide for rent control and low-rental housing.

The personnel, comprising one half of the department's strength of uniformed constables, are: Accident investigation: Constables W. A. Andrews, B. H. Ferguson, J. A. Baxter, A. G. Deeks and L. W. Johnson.

Law enforcement duties on solo motorcycles: Constables J. D. Blackstock, A. E. Appleton, A. V. Harwood, A. Stewart, D. Buie, J. W. Barlow, W. W. Carlwell, E. Hamer, W. Knowles, A. Newsome, G. H. Godsmark, W. M. Reekie, J. W. Mason and J. Birch.

Marking detail: D. G. Grant and L. J. Mothershead.

In charge of violation bureau: Constable Stanley Cornish.

School patrol detail: Constable Ian Duncan.

Special two nights a week training will start June 20. The men in the meantime will carry on with regular duties.

Incendiary Fire At Hilliers Being Investigated By Police

Gasoline and paper fuses were used by unknown arsonists to burn down the St. John's Anglican Women's Guild Hall, known as the Community Hall, at Hilliers Sunday, B.C. Police report.

Only two brick chimneys remain standing. Building is only 30 yards from the Doukhobor settlement home.

Provincial Police are continuing investigations today. They have exhibits in their possession which are proof the fire was of incendiary origin.

Investigations are being directed by Insp. Richard B. Harvey, head of the C.I.B. of the force at Victoria headquarters.

This was the successful attempt in two to burn down the hall. Last August a fire was set there but was unsuccessful. However, a colony kitchen and a school were burned.

Belief that prowlers were in the area shortly before the 1.30 a.m. fire, was expressed by members of the community.

Provincial Police in Victoria said the fire had similar features to other blazes that have been charged against fanatics of the Doukhobor sect.

Joe Podovnikoff, Doukhobor spokesman, said members had not investigated the reason why watch dogs within the settlement compound were restless and barking.

He said members of the community were at Cumberland Saturday night for a folk festival. On the previous other two occasions of destruction by fire in the neighborhood, he pointed out, Doukhobors had been attending functions outside the settlement walls.

Fire was started at the rear of the building. It was observed by Lloyd Coombs at Coombs, four miles away. Forest rangers from Qualicum responded to his alarm. They were unable to save the building, but took steps to prevent the spread of the fire to nearby timber.

Ontario Drought Drags On; Only Faint Hopes Of Rain

TORONTO (BUP)—Promises of rain had still failed to materialize today in the drought-stricken areas of Ontario.

As the province broiled its way into the 19th day of disastrous drought, weary farmers looked to the sky for some relief from the record dry spell. But the weatherman brought only faint hopes again today that some rain would come.

Across the province, farmers counted up an estimated damage well over the $100,000,000 mark and each day sees the toll mount higher.

Hagdest hit by the 18 days of drought were hay, strawberries, tomatoes, potatoes, turnips, peas and beans.

Prospects for increased prices on Ontario-grown fruits and vegetables were seen in the wake of the searing sun. Shortage of supply and continued demand, Toronto retailers said, would be sure to send price tags upwards.

Sharing the grief with the farmers, were the municipal water systems. Throughout the dry area, orders were issued prohibiting the use of garden hose. Officials reported reservoirs in many communities were becoming dangerously low.

Spend Over $400,000 To Expand Telephone System In Victoria

Current B.C. Telephone Company expansion work in Victoria involves an expenditure of more than $400,000 on additional central office and outside plant facilities.

Technicians have been working for some time on the installation of approximately 2,000 lines of additional automatic equipment in the Empire, Garden and Beacon units of the Victoria central office, company officials state.

Costing in the neighborhood of $350,000, this equipment is expected to be in operation later this year, with more already on order for further expansion.

Cable extensions in various parts of the city, involving a total expenditure of nearly $60, 000, were recently completed. In carrying out this project, linemen placed over 31,000 feet of small and large gauge cable containing nearly 11,000,000 feet of wire. Additional cable is on order for further outside plant extensions.

Cable worth $15,000 is being placed in Colquitz, and both cable and additional switchboard are on order for Colquitz, Albion and Belmont.

GOOD JOB WELL DONE

TO A LESS VIGOROUS MAN, THE schedule being completed today by Premier Johnson would have been more than exhausting. As he awaits the results of tomorrow's voting, British Columbia's first minister of the Crown has every reason to be satisfied personally with the task he has discharged. He has traveled approximately 11,000 miles, has delivered more than 100 speeches and has presented himself in person to about 14,000 people, outlining to them the program and record of achievement of a vigorous government, and answering their questions. When he returned to Vancouver from his swing through the Interior, he was tired but suffering from "nothing a good night's sleep won't put right."

It is characteristic of "Boss" Johnson, the man, that he should have undertaken such a strenuous campaign. It reflects the same spirit as that which sent him, newly in office, to the falling dykes of British Columbia's Fraser during the floods last year. He sees himself as the people's servant, and he has no inclination to build any walls between himself and those people. This is the attitude, coupled with his energy, sound sense and constructive outlook, that has given the province a leadership which bespeaks steady progress in the future. If the people do not know "Boss" Johnson, and appreciate his sincerity and ability, it is not the fault of their Premier.

In the time of waiting until the returns come in, Mr. Johnson may have opportunity to weigh again the forthright and far-seeing program on which he has based his request to the voters for the necessary mandate to carry out the Coalition government's proposals. It is at once ambitious and practical. It has been compiled to assure the continued advancement of this province on those lines which have brought stability, prosperity and an enviable credit rating. It is the type of blueprint which encourages the inflow of capital on which physical development depends. The Premier has every reason to view the campaign he has led with equanimity and to feel that the energy he has put into it has been of significant importance in familiarizing British Columbians with the practical plans his government has presented—in contrast to the nebulous theories on which the neo-Communists depend for support.

STILL DEPENDENT

ALTHOUGH SOME MIGHT SEE CERTAIN humorous aspects in a newspaper headline to the effect that lack of rain in Ontario was causing a shortage of milk supplies, there is little that is humorous in the situation now developing in the central province. A prolonged drought, of greater severity than Victoria's dry May and June, has resulted in a serious crisis in Ontario's farming and dairy industries. The failure of fodder crops has already caused a 10 per cent drop in milk production. Corn, strawberries and late-sown grain are withering, and government agricultural experts are advising emergency plantings of mid-summer crops to protect the parched fields.

The situation reminds us of the fact that except for certain restricted areas that enjoy artificially achieved irrigation, mankind's food supply is still largely at the mercy of the weather. Too much moisture or not enough in any given period of growing or harvesting may bring catastrophe to those dependent on the produce. Much has been done in weed control, pest control and selective breeding of plants and animals, but nature still holds the balance of power and dictates whether we shall prosper or suffer want.

PROBLEM IN PARIS

WHILE CANADIANS IN GENERAL AND British Columbians in particular are thinking in terms of their own political future—and the voters of this province go to the polls tomorrow—the Foreign Ministers of the United Kingdom, the United States, France, and the Soviet Union seem to be having a difficult job in deciding what to do about Germany.

We are told, for example, that "super-secret" talks marked yesterday's proceedings in Paris. These do not enlighten the peoples of the world who are expecting some kind of practical directive. More than two billion souls are worried. They want to know whether or not the folk who foot the bills for peacetime requirements, and the inflated bills of wartime, are to be taken into consideration when a few men sitting around a conference table in secret conclave in Paris presume to decide their fate.

To be sure, the discussions which have consumed a good deal of time since the beginning of this new attempt to find a solution for one of the most important problems of the moment have produced no magic curative. But it must be set down on the record that the men who are entitled to constitute themselves as spokesmen for the western democracies have done their best to reach some practical accord with the emissaries of the Kremlin. So far they have not succeeded. It is not their fault. They have been balked at every turn.

The men who represent Prime Minister

Stalin and the members of the Politburo follow one pattern. They proclaim—the regimented press of Moscow iterates and reiterates—and the "fellow travelers" all over the world follow the well-known refrain. This, reduced to simple terms, is the charge that the capitalist-monopolistic nations of the west are intent on their determination to destroy the Russian people. Pure poppycock as this is, however, it still seems to be fashionable with even those Canadians who enjoy, even if they do not appreciate, the good things which this land showers upon them.

All of us have our opinions about a plan for the Fourth Reich. They may not count for much. It cannot be otherwise. Into the laps of a few men is tossed the job of working out a solution that will solve an age-old problem. Therefore, as they mull over these matters in Paris—whether in "super-secret" talks or in open conclave—this is their job. It is no sinecure. These men are men of good will. They hate war. Some of them are naturally perturbed because the spokesmen for the Soviet Union apparently are unable to make up their minds about anything. They are made up for them by Politburo instruction.

Before this is read, of course, it may be that new developments in Paris will have taken shape. If they have, it is to be hoped there will be some indication of sensible co-operation between east and west—a new international outlook that will bespeak universal accord. Goodness knows this is a sign for which everybody is looking.

In the final analysis, then, a peace-loving and war-weary world is demanding that the men in charge of affairs in the Kremlin say what they are prepared and willing to do in the cause of peace. If they have nothing practical to suggest, the average democrat will know where he and she stands.

THE KNOWLEDGE WAS THERE

ONCE AGAIN NEWSPAPER READERS of this community have had occasion to applaud the presence of mind and ability of a competent young swimmer whose action saved a life at Shawnigan Lake last Sunday. Had it not been for the proficiency in the water of Miss Beverly Ross, who brought him to the surface, resuscitation work on Frank Greeley would have been futile. Victoria would have had another item to add to that from Vancouver reporting two drownings over the week-end.

These incidents add point to the warning contained in the current issue of the British Columbia Department of Health and Welfare Bulletin, which cautions those who cannot swim to stay out of small boats or, better still, to learn to swim without delay. To citizens who can, the bulletin gives further advice, urging them to swim only when and where they should. It adds the sound warning not to go into the water too soon after eating a heavy meal, noting stomach cramps and heart failure through over-exertion are among the dangers that attend that practice.

Of a more positive nature are the bulletin's remarks on life-saving:

The on-shore spectator also has his part to play in preventing water fatalities. He should not only know how to get a drowning person out of the water but should also know how to go about reviving him—for it is at this point that his responsibility for a life is just beginning.

Many people assume that a victim who has been in the water for more than a few minutes can't be saved by artificial respiration. This is not true. People submerged for as long as 30 minutes have recovered because of prompt and continuous application of artificial respiration. The heart will beat for some time although lungs and stomach are water-filled.

The requisite knowledge on artificial respiration is easily obtained. Apart from the work conducted by the Red Cross in its water-safety campaign, the ordinary routine of the St. John Ambulance Association, the general training of Boy Scouts and kindred organizations, swimming clubs as well as schools, are happy to enrol students for brief but adequate courses in this simple treatment.

WHAT COULD HAPPEN

ACCORDING TO MARK TWAIN, IT IS good for a dog to have a few fleas. They keep him from brooding on being a dog, and by a stretch of the analogy, it is good for Canada to have Adrian Arcand. He prevents Canadians from ignoring the fact that they belong to a democracy. A Montreal report notes that M. Arcand will run for election in Richelieu-Verchères and that the policy of the party he represents is "Canada for Canadians, for the corporate state, anti-Communism, anti-Jewish and nationalist as against internationalism."

The internee of the Second World War dislikes Communism, it is true, but not as Democratic Canadians dislike it. The distaste of the National Unity Party leader is that of any fascist for the Moscow creed. What is meant by "Canada for Canadians" must be a matter of surmise. But in the remainder of his party's slogan, those who cherish freedom in this country will find the antithesis of their beliefs. Arcand, however, is not without value to the people of this Dominion. His philosophy should at least be a strong counter-agent to the apathy which afflicts too many of our people. Adrian stands for a calamity which could happen here if inertia and disinterest should destroy the franchise.

TIME RUNNING OUT

MR. HOFFMAN, arguing with the United States Senate Appropriations Committee, has certainly not exaggerated and has almost surely understated the consequences of a still greater cut in E.R.P. funds. For the truth is that the amount he is asking for now is considerably less than what was regarded as a necessary minimum at the beginning of last winter. Yet when the original calculations were made, it was still believed by almost everyone that the American recession would be checked by a seasonal improvement in the spring.

In fact the recession has not been checked but is developing. Moreover, abroad there are now unmistakable signs, most clearly visible in Great Britain but by no means confined to Great Britain, that a depression of serious proportions is in the making.

THEREFORE, the amount Mr. Hoffman is willing to accept now, and is fighting to keep Congress from cutting further, is almost certainly too little to sustain the recovery already achieved. For what might have been just enough to keep things going slowly forward—with no recession in America and no depression abroad—cannot be nearly enough now to keep things from going rapidly and dangerously backward.

The true situation, which has been very much obscured on this side of the Atlantic, is most clearly recognized, and despite the impending election is being more honestly discussed, in the United Kingdom. Last week the Economist said in language which is all the more impressive because of its restraint that "the circumstances by which Britain may soon be threatened are of an unprecedented kind" . . . and the Times (London) said that "with the easy sellers' market ended and competition rising, the stake is no less than the national standard of life."

THAT IS A very high stake indeed. For the British standard of life is not luxurious, not even comfortable. If it cannot withstand the worldwide depression and deflation, the political and social consequences even among so steadfast and mature a people as the British will not be agreeable to contemplate. The consequences elsewhere, for example in Germany, will be even less agreeable.

The American recession has not created the British and the European problem of how to maintain the relatively low standard of life which has been achieved since the end of the war. But the American recession is disclosing how deep, how difficult, how insoluble by present American policies and devices, is the problem of European recovery.

THE CHANGE in the economic climate will compel the United States to face the problems she has never yet been willing to face much sooner than even the experts anticipated, and long before the governments and the people are prepared to face them.

There is current a good deal of pretense and propaganda about how well in hand everything is. Yet ever since the report of the Marshall Plan countries which was made available at the end of 1948 it has been known to the relatively few who studied it that the goal of European recovery, in the official and popular sense of the words, was unattainable by 1952—during the period set by Congress and agreed to by the Marshall Plan countries. It was certain that even with almost unlimited wishful thinking the leading industrial countries of Europe could not become self-supporting and still achieve and maintain a tolerable standard of life by 1952, or in fact at any foreseeable date.

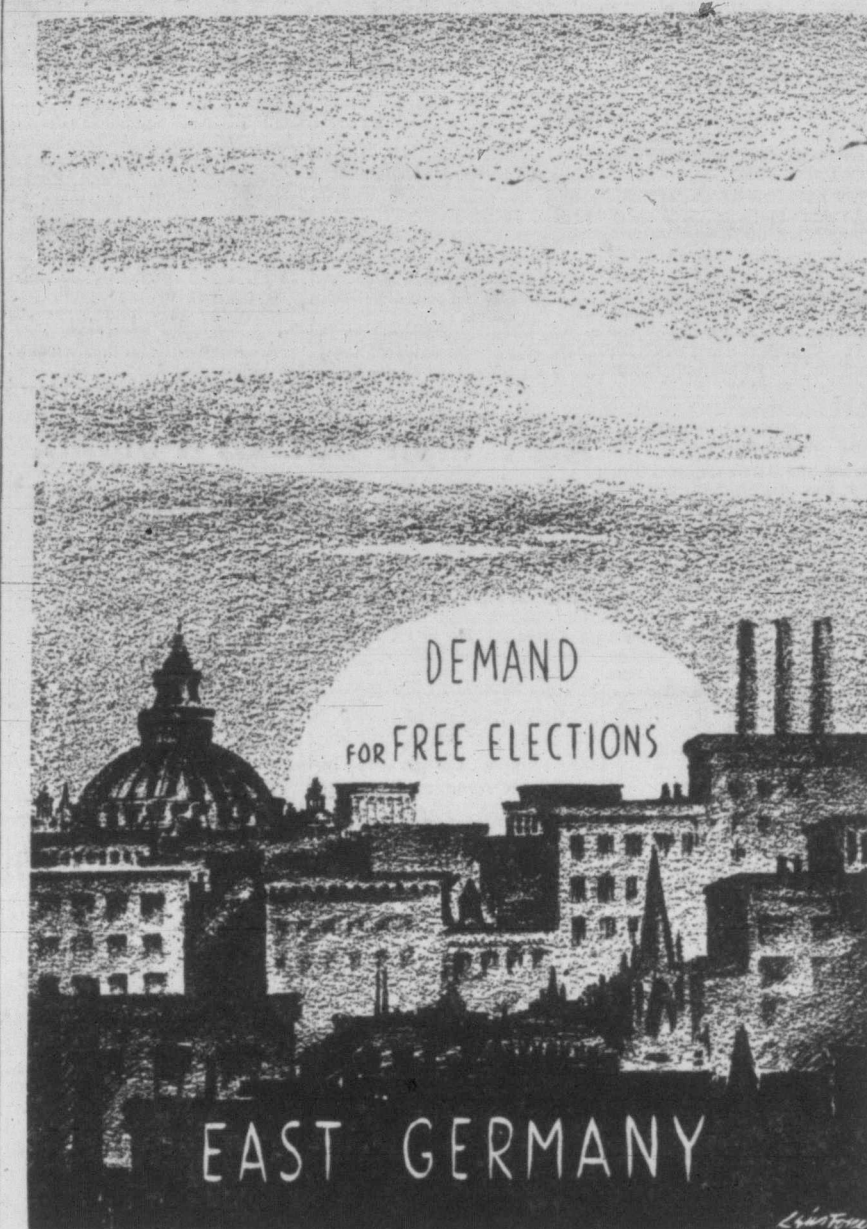

BUT EVEN THOSE who knew the hard facts of life hoped and believed that with Marshall aid the United States would be able to buy enough time before the western world had to face the deeper and more dangerous issues of recovery and reconstruction. They hoped and believed that though the Marshall Plan could not make Europe prosperous and solvent, it would buy the time to repair the physical damage of war, to stabilize the political, financial and administrative machinery, to recuperate from the emotional shock of war, to reduce the tensions and to find at least an accommodation with the Soviet Union, and to make peace with Germany and Japan.

THE MARSHALL PLAN has, of course, been buying time in this sense. But it now seems probable that with the American recession, the tapering off of American aid, the exhaustion of European reserves, the time which can be bought is very much shortened. Problems that could be postponed, or played with, during the inflationary boom will come crowding upon the United States the more rapidly and acutely the international deflation develops. And the more Congress cuts Mr. Hoffman's appropriation, the sooner the Congress will be faced with these problems, which it has not even begun to think about.

THEY WILL BE problems that cannot be solved by a rip-snorting statement from a Hickenlooper or a McCarran, which is then "investigated" amidst the Klieg lights, the television cameras, and the microphones. They will be the problems posed by the relation, unprecedented in all history, between the North American continent and all the other continents—and of how a decent world society can exist where the disparity in power and in wealth as between nations is the same culture and ideals is so dangerously wide.

SWEETSTAKES

Being unable personally to attend the many political meetings now being held, might I suggest to some of your readers to address the following questions to the various candidates now in the provincial and federal fields:

"Are you in favor of authorized and controlled sweepstakes in aid of hospitals and recognized charities, and if so will you, if elected, take the necessary steps to have the ban on such sweepstakes removed?"

A definite and unequivocal statement on the matter would be welcomed by a very large number of the electors.

If the candidate is against the permission to hold such sweepstakes or drawings on moral grounds, the candidates might further be asked if they would move to have the government restrained from taking its present colossal rakeoff from pari-mutuel betting on horse racing.

Pollyanna Talk

Montreal Star
Dr. Brock Chisholm, the eminent secretary-general of the World Health Organization, has joined himself to the large body of critics who complain that the press publicizes conflict and ignores agreement and progress. We often wonder what kind of newspaper these critics would themselves produce. The production of a newspaper demands in its way the same kind of expert knowledge that is demanded, let us say, of a doctor or a psychiatrist. Newspapers seldom criticize the doctors and the psychiatrists, but they have no objection to the doctors and psychiatrists going after them, though we doubt if it would be beneficial to our society if newspaper publishers were drawn wholly from the ranks of the Pollyannas.

What is needed is some kind of balance, and we fancy that Dr. Chisholm would be very ready to admit that the modern newspaper does publish daily a very large amount of news relating to the constructive and useful activities of mankind. Too much reportage of Pollyannaism could be just as bad as too much reportage of conflict.

a chorus. A home is primarily a duet. We need coal, I order it. I do not necessarily tell my husband, nor is it a secret. We need the commodity, some coal lasts longer and is more expensive and awards more B.T.U.'s. Anthracite, for instance, costs more, and saves time. (We can't have our cake and eat it, too.)

Only one firm supplied my coal, the others being because money and the coal is in circulation in quarters which govern output and intake, and in certain instances, one ton of coal can equal 50 times its value in domestic security.

The answers to Mr. Drew's questions can be mailed to Ottawa on June 27.

JUBILEE AND UNIONS

As different reports have appeared in your newspaper in regard to the formation of an employees' association at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, I wish, as an employee of the hospital, to make a statement.

On receipt of a notice from a union of the Local Trades and Labor Council, calling for a meeting of all Royal Jubilee employees, with the general idea of organizing under their banner, I attended, and after listening to the organizer for some time, moved that the employees of the Royal Jubilee Hospital appoint a working committee representative of all departments, to study the matter and bring in a report on all types of employees' organizations and bargaining committees, thus giving the people concerned the democratic right to study and familiarize themselves with the facts and to choose by ballot the type of organization which might seem to offer most benefits to the institution as a whole.

The union representatives concurred in this idea and the motion was duly cast and carried. The committee was nominated from the floor of this meeting, and I was appointed chairman. The information and facts were gathered and compiled in a comprehensive report, which was presented to the employees, endorsed by them, and a motion made that the employees as a whole have the opportunity of voting on four different types of organization by secret ballot. As you know, this has been carried out, and the vote went in favor of an employee organization with their own appointed bargaining committee.

Mr. Percy Rayment, the secretary of the Local Trades and Labor Council, in a notice calling for a union meeting, complimented the committee on the fairness of the report. He also apologized at a committee meeting for the behavior of union organizers and the tactics used in the handling of this matter.

My position has been a strictly neutral one. In the matter I have been motivated solely by a concern for the employees to have the opportunity to study the facts and to form their own conclusions.

CHARLES W. BURR,

A PROBLEM

The Douthobor problem has for years proven to be most difficult to solve. It seems to me that the communal angle is what makes it so difficult to get at. As long as these people are permitted to band together they will always be defiant of our laws. If each single family were placed in a different part of the Dominion and were kept apart, there might be some chance to have them accept schooling and our way of life, and the younger of them would undoubtedly become more amenable.

Each family could then be more carefully watched by the different authorities and their tendency to lawlessness would be overcome. There is always strength in numbers, and, if separated, single families could not do the harm they now do.

The interior of B.C. needs a break. It has suffered long enough.

Quite Happy

Exchange

One of the things we like best about being a British subject is that when you tell someone you are they know just what you mean. You are a British subject, tout court. We don't get mad any more when someone calls us colonial (unless he happens to be an Englishman who should know better). We just smile and rest secure in the knowledge that we are not colonial; we are British subjects and, since a year or so ago, Canadian nationals. And if the Commonwealth and Empire have changed in the last little while the change hasn't affected our life the least bit. We are what we were before and proud of it.

Some people are agitated by the need for straightening out the Commonwealth now that we find we can take in republics and still have a King. We suggest they leave it alone. If it developed in a fit of absent-mindedness it can go on functioning by the same process and do very well, thank you.

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THAT was a bold and challenging speech which former President Herbert Hoover made at Ohio Wesleyan University during the week-end when he took a vigorous dig at the brand of "new era" thinking which substitutes security for self-reliance. It's likely to bring him a good deal of mail, pro and con.

Certainly the topic is timely, for there are few corners of the world where it isn't being discussed and in many cases experimented with. Even John Bull, who through the generations has stood for solid conservatism, now is up to his neck in socialism.

Hoover said that while "security" eliminates the risks of life, it "also kills the joy that lies in competition, in individual adventure, new undertakings and new achievements. These contain moral and intellectual impulses more vital than even profits, for from them alone comes national progress."

This is from a man whose life is a romance of American success. He was orphaned at 15. He rose to the top as a mining engineer, working in many parts of the world. Fame came to him for his relief administration work in Europe during World War One, and finally he was elected to the presidency. Previously he had served eight years as Secretary of Commerce.

SECURITY OR SELF-RELIANCE

And it is recorded that Hoover gave every dollar from his public salaries to help the needy. But let's get back to that speech.

"At all times in history there have been many who sought escape into 'security' from self-reliance," he said.

"Moreover, governments have not been able to fix the wages of sin, nor have they found a substitute for profit and other personal stimulants."

Britain for one is making a great experiment in socialism. She has had four years of socialism, going far in nationalization and even daring to socialize medicine. Another general election is due to be held by July of next year, and then the people will pass their verdict on the question of security versus self-reliance, as Hoover phrases it.

That verdict will be by a country which achieved its greatness through "competition, in individual adventure, new undertakings and new achievements."

CLOSER TOUCH

London (Ont.) Free Press

Now that mankind has learned to travel in luxury liners, or, when on business bent, to whizz through the stratosphere aboard an air liner, he is losing touch with the sea. He might be better off in many ways, if he took time to strengthen and let slacken this ancient bond. It was within the great primeval seas, and the salt water, that life began, and man is closer to the great waters than to the earth. Still less to the air. When man divorces himself from the sea he loses an intangible but vital relationship with the great forces of nature, and suffers a sort of spiritual starvation which inland habitation can never overcome.

PRIMARY PROBLEM

Winnipeg Free Press

The primary economic problem before the world is to mesh the productive machine with the machine of distribution everywhere. If this integration can be achieved the world, with its constantly-growing capacity to produce, can soon achieve a standard of living higher than it ever knew before. The main economic obstacles standing between us and this objective are the trading policies of the great nations, the unwillingness to trade freely, the economic isolation of Russia, which is the counterpart of its political isolation.

We need expect no early change in Russia's policy, which is many centuries old, but the free world, reinforced by the Atlantic pact and pledged to economic co-operation through many international agreements, has its chance now to bring its exchange of goods up to its capacity to produce them.

Urges Greater Voice For Canada
In Making Rules For World Trade

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor
James S. Duncan, president of the Canadian section of the International Chamber of Commerce, has some advice to Canadians on the subject of foreign trade and what the I.C.C. means to them.

Speaking to Canadian delegates in Quebec, he said:

"When one considers our almost unique dependence upon export trade, that between 30 and 40 per cent of our national income is derived from our operations abroad, and that, for instance, when eight or nine people are gathered together in one room, the average chances are that at least three of them derive their income from foreign trade—it is difficult to over-emphasize our dependence upon the ebb and flow of international trade relationships.

GREAT RESOURCES

"And yet, as a nation, we have been surprisingly complacent and disinterested in matters of foreign trade generally, a condition which is due, no doubt, to our privileged position as a repository of great natural resources in our mines, our forests, our agriculture, which the world requires, and to the fact also that in prewar days we sold more than 80 per cent of all our exports to two customers, the United States and the British Empire, and a knowledge of the intricacies of world trade, therefore, was not essential.

"It is perhaps for this reason that whereas the I.C.C. has been in operation since 1919, Canada only became a member three years ago.

"It is for this reason also that our voice has not been heard as clearly as one might have wished in the council of the I.C.C. It is because our Canadian section, until recently, has been small, new at the game and, to some extent inexperienced, that we have not played as important a part in the drafting of resolutions which will be placed before this congress as our importance as a world trader would warrant.

"It is essential that this situation be remedied, our dependence upon exports (and the imports which make them possible) is so great that our voice must be heard in the formulating of the rules which will govern the game."

MANY LEADERS THERE

"Never before in Canada have so many top-flight business men from so many countries been gathered together under one roof."

"Let us not overlook the fact that if we are small in number, only 13,000,000 in a world of more than 2,000,000,000, we are yet the third largest world trader."

(Attending the week-long convention of the International Chamber of Commerce in Quebec are some 600 delegates from 25 countries.)

Uphold Convictions Of Screen Writers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals Monday upheld the contempt-of-congress convictions of screen writers John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo.

The two are among 10 Hollywood figures cited for contempt for refusing to answer questions of the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee during its Communism-in-the-film-capital investigation last year.

Each was sentenced to one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine. They have been free on bond pending the appeal, which now appears certain to go to the Supreme Court.

The cases of the others have been held up by an informal agreement pending outcome of the appeals.

337 Oregon Newsboys Visit Victoria

Rural carrier boys on the circulation staff of the Portland Oregonian shown on the lawn of Thunderbird Park during their visit to Victoria Monday afternoon.

Three hundred and seventy-two newsboys, who deliver the Portland Oregonian in country districts of Oregon and neighboring Idaho, were in Victoria Monday afternoon.

They arrived from Seattle shortly before 2, aboard the Princess Marguerite. They spent the afternoon shopping, sight-seeing and swimming. At 6, they all had supper in the Crystal Garden, and later caught the night boat to Vancouver, where they are spending today.

Wednesday, they will all be back in Victoria on their way home.

The trip to Canada was offered as a reward to all Oregonian carriers who could sell 35 three-month subscriptions to the paper. Five hundred and twenty-two boys, ranging in age from nine to 18, were successful in reaching this quota.

The boys now on tour are all rural carriers. Next week, 150 city carriers will be brought on a similar trip.

Accompanying the newsboys are 20 leaders. The party is headed by Harold Needham, country circulation manager.

Joe Kiser, one of the leaders, said the boys were not a bit of trouble. Coming to Victoria aboard the Princess Marguerite, he said, the boys were complimented by ship's officers for their gentlemanly behaviour.

Accidental Death In Truck Mishap

LAKE COWICHAN—After deliberating 25 minutes a coroner's jury here brought in a verdict of accidental death in the case of Leon Fong Hee, 48-year-old Chinese grade foreman for Hillcrest Lumber Co.

Evidence given indicated that Hee died from a fractured skull sustained when a pick-up truck, driven by Lemuel Traer, woods superintendent, went off the Robertson River bridge, falling 20 feet into four feet of water, June 7.

Hee was riding with Traer and Andrew Cleven, master mechanic for Hillcrest Lumber Co., in the cab of the truck. Traer and Cleven escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

The jury added a rider to its verdict recommending that the company place signs on Robertson River bridge and similar bridges indicating a 10-mile an hour speed limit. Evidence given placed speed of the truck at 20 to 25 miles an hour.

Constables George Phillips and Stanley Hodges and Dr. A. G. Vey gave evidence. The deceased leaves a wife and two children in China.

New H.B.C. Ship Off To Arctic July 7

MONTREAL (CP)—A trim ship arrived during the week-end to prepare for a 9,000-mile Arctic trip.

The Hudson's Bay Company's new motor vessel, Rupertsland, is here to undergo inspection and take on supplies in preparation for a supply-carrying visit to a score of isolated settlements in Canada's far north.

Successor to the ill-fated Nascope, which went down in 1947, the 160-foot Rupertsland was built at the Fairfield yards on the Clyde and was launched last Nov. 30.

After a story crossing, she wintered at Halifax and came up-river last week. She leaves here July 7 loaded with supplies ranging from flour and tea to children's books.

HAY FEVER AND ASTHMA

Two New Specialized Treatments

After 30 years of specializing in treatments for Bronchial and Nasal complaints, International Laboratories of England have found that two separate preparations are necessary for best results and to give satisfactory relief from the distress and discomforts of both Asthma and Hay Fever. All drug stores now have two new specialized treatments.

ASTHMA

The recommended treatment for Asthma is Respatone, which gives astonishingly fast relief, is quite safe when taken as directed and economical in use. In just 30 seconds Respatone starts its work to cut short an Asthma attack, restore easy breathing in 15 to 30 minutes and bring about lasting improvement. All drug stores now sell Respatone in three sizes—75c, $1.75 and $5.00 for the large economy package.

HAY FEVER

Sufferers know only too well the distressing symptoms of sneezing, nasal inflammation, throat soreness and irritation of the eyes. Azo is a highly successful treatment sold in a tube with a special nozzle, which makes it very simple to squeeze a little up each nostril. Azo stops sneezing and discharge with amazing speed, soothes irritated membranes and helps to relieve other distressing symptoms. A tube of Azo costs $1.50. For all Hay Fever sufferers it is recommended to gargle, bathe closed eyes in warm water and wear sun glasses when in strong sunlight.

Cut out this article to remind you to ask your druggist today—he can give you full information and will supply you with whichever treatment you require.

YOUR FUTURE... AND CANADA'S

Conditions have been good the last few years. More people are working than ever before — making more, spending more, saving more.

Isn't that what you want? After all, you have a family to think about... and you are planning for their future...

The Liberals are planning and working for your family's future too.

Here are some of the things the Liberals are doing:

Family Allowances are increased. Already a billion dollars has been invested in Canada's children. Millions of boys and girls are better clothed, fed and housed — have a better chance for an education and a real start in life — because of this Liberal measure. It has brought new security and well-being to countless Canadian homes.

In housing, too, the Liberals have taken the lead in providing Canadians with decent homes. More homes have been built in Canada, in relation to population, than in any nation. Already a million Canadians live in homes built since the war. The Liberal government is ready to help solve the low-rental housing problem and has offered its cooperation to provinces and municipalities.

Then, there is the Liberal health program. Already federal grants are helping the provinces to increase their health services. But the Liberals' aim is a nation-wide contributory health insurance plan which will end, for everyone, the tragedy of inadequate health care and the financial strain of lengthy illness.

Or take employment. Liberal measures are helping to maintain employment in Canada at record levels, and at the same time unemployment insurance reserves have been building up. The government has encouraged enterprise and high production. Plants have expanded, new industries started up. New opportunities are being created every day.

Old Age Pensions and pensions for the blind have been steadily increased by the Liberal government. But it isn't stopping there. Its aim is a nation-wide plan of contributory pensions which will help everyone to enjoy a comfortable and secure old age — automatically and as a right.

These are all part of the Liberal program of social betterment... a program to achieve "a national standard of social security and human welfare which assures the greatest possible measure of social justice to all Canadians".

Coalition Candidates Stage Rally As Campaign Finishes

Greater Victoria Coalition candidates who have been campaigning for support at the provincial polls Wednesday, spoke from the same platform Monday night at an election rally at the Dominion Theatre.

The evening's program included five speeches, introductions and a brief address by Hon. John Hart, former premier of B.C., who acted as chairman.

One candidate for the area, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, was not present. She was campaigning for the coalition cause at Duncan and Ladysmith.

The five speeches given were climaxed with an address by Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Oak Bay candidate, who is co-leader with Premier Byron Johnson of the Coalition government.

Others who spoke were Hon. W. T. Strath, Minister of Education, and D. J. Proudfoot, who, with Mrs. Hodges, make up the trio of Victoria Coalition candidates; Charles T. Beard, the Esquimalt riding candidate, and Arthur Ash, who is the Saanich choice of Liberals and Conservatives for election.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Hart urged support of the Coalition government. It was the best government B.C. had ever had.

The joint government was formed under his regime in 1941 and it would continue for a long time yet, Mr. Hart predicted.

SAME CONFIDENCE

He took the opportunity to thank the people of Victoria and of the province for their support in the 25 years he was in office, and he asked that the people give the Johnson-Anscomb Coalition administration the same confidence he received.

"And don't forget Nancy Hodges when you go to the polls," Mr. Hart said in explaining she could not be present. His words were greeted with loud applause.

Introduced by G. A. A. Hebden, Mr. Anscomb gave a rousing address in which he attacked the C.C.F. and gave details of issues, including the sales tax, which the opposition had attempted to sabotage.

The minister said the only real issue facing the people at the polls was free enterprise vs. socialism and communism.

There was a different approach to socialism than to communism but there was no difference in the final analysis.

"Both lead to dictatorship," Mr. Anscomb said.

The C.C.F. was socialism!

SALES TAX CHALLENGE

Mr. Anscomb was anxious to talk about the sales tax, or social assistance and municipal aid tax. He said Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader, and Herbert Gargrave, his first lieutenant, had said in the Legislature he would not have the courage to go outside and defend the tax.

"And that is what I am going to do right now," the minister of finance said.

The tax had made possible the great humanitarian program the Coalition government had built up from the time it was started under Mr. Hart's premiership.

It made possible the old-age pension and mothers' allowance services in effect in B.C.

The C.C.F. had been venomous in opposing it all down the line, but for political purposes only, Mr. Anscomb charged.

He challenged the C.C.F. to say publicly that if it was elected to power it would remove the sales tax.

EDUCATION SPEECH

Mr. Strath dealt only with education. Introduced by Dr. J. M. Ewing, the minister of 18 months said the greatest problem facing his department was the increase in school population. In some areas it had doubled in the last five years.

The finance minister realized the youth, B.C.'s greatest asset, must be educated properly, and more money was being made available to see that this was done.

The province was paying 50 per cent of the cost of new schools under construction and $5,800,000 was being spent throughout the province this year.

Mr. Strath pointed to the reversal the Coalition government had brought about in the last five years in what it paid toward costs of education.

When the Cameron Report was made the province was paying one-third of the cost. The report recommended that it pay 55 per cent. Today it was paying 66 per cent, or two-thirds.

WINCH STATEMENT

Mr. Ash, introduced by J. Len Hobbs, warned against the C.C.F. and pointed to a statement reportedly made by E. E. Winch, seeking re-election in Burnaby under the C.C.F. banner, that he favored eradication of capitalism.

"That's a communistic statement," said Mr. Ash.

He urged everyone to vote. All the C.C.F. supporters would exercise their franchise. And a minority C.C.F. government could be elected if the people did not bother going to the polls, but left it for the other fellow.

SUCCESS STORY

Mr. Beard, introduced by George Gregory, gave a homey speech in which he could not understand the C.C.F. "taking umbrage at anyone or any business which is successful."

"That point seems to be the proverbial red rag for them," he said.

He flayed the opposition party for its stand on the Atlantic Pact. Mr. Beard said he wanted to see the government include in its development program construction of the Gorge canal which would keep the Gorge waters clean.

MUD FLINGING

Mr. Proudfoot, introduced by Russell Ker, accused the C.C.F. of flinging mud in the current campaign and in answer to a heckler from the audience, said: "I wouldn't soil my hands by using those tactics."

He thought the C.C.F. had done everything it could to keep investors away from B.C.

The candidate praised the Coalition government for instituting the hospital insurance scheme and said the legislation bringing it into effect was one of the finest the province has seen.

He thought the Coalition government's program for the next few years was daring, but he knew it could be accomplished.

Intermission vocal selections were given by Pierre Timp, Victoria baritone, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Timp.

Officers Named By Typographical Union

Victoria Typographical Union No. 201 has elected officers as follows: J. F. Hough, president; J. D. Chapman, vice-president; H. Warren, secretary-treasurer. All were by acclamation. Executive committee—V. J. Baines, L. P. Johnston, N. P. McConnell and W. Richardson; delegates to Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council—V. J. Baines, R. C. W. Gaunt, N. Robertson and W. Richardson; delegates to the I.T.U. Oakland convention—J. F. Hough and J. D. Chapman. In addition to the above, members of the various standing committees were elected at the last meeting of the union.

Clark Calls On Men Of Good Will To Vote For Electors

W. J. Clark, Union of Electors candidate in Victoria, Monday night called on all men of good-will to join to elect Union of Electors candidates.

"We need above everything a Legislature which is not muzzled, shackled and controlled by party interests," he said. "We need a Legislature of honest, trustworthy men and women with courage and a high sense of public duty, who will take their instructions from the people whom they represent."

Mrs. Doris Loughheed, another candidate of the same group, said the voters almost automatically would have good government if they would unite in demanding results, not platforms, not persons, not promises, not parties.

She urged voters to ask of each party program: Does it detract from the freedom of the individual; does it add to the bureaucracy; is it consistent with the Christian way of life, and does it reflect the ability of a capable, wealthy province?

Mrs. Edith Bell, the third Union of Electors candidate in Victoria, said that an independent representative was free to reflect the opinions of the majority of the voters who sent him or her.

"Even the revitalized Progressive Conservative Party evidently sees the trend toward the independent candidates," she said.

Reunion Of The 'Terrible Five'

A reunion held in Victoria recently, marks a friendship that commenced over 30 years ago in the Parliament Buildings.

The Land Settlement Board, opened in 1917, in the annex at Superior and Government Street, was the setting.

Maxwell Smith, remembered by many because of the broad-brimmed hats he always wore, was chairman and Juanita Hastings was engaged as legal stenographer. Shortly after, Airlie Watson and Edith Whitwell entered the service as stenographers. Early in 1919, Jessie Carter was transferred from the Lands Department as filing clerk, and a few months later, Helen Dawson joined the staff as stenographer.

R. A. Hunt was head of the legal department and C. E. Sonoy, accountant. Officers following Maxwell Smith, while the five friends worked for the board were H. M. Nelms, Col. R. D. Davies and Col. W. S. Latta.

RECEIVE NAME

The five girls, working together, soon became friends and their first "get-together" was a dinner given by Edith Whitwell, followed by a theatre party to the old Pantages, where at that time a vaudeville circuit played once a week.

From then on the "Terrible Five," as Mr. Hunt named them, were inseparable.

The circle was unbroken until 1923, when four of the girls, Airlie Watson, Helen Dawson, Juanita Hastings and Edith Whitwell, married and established homes, two in Seattle, one in Vancouver and one in Port Townsend.

In 1925, Miss Carter went to Portland to continue musical studies. She entered the employ of a savings and loan association there and is now in charge of its tax department.

The first reunion, after a separation of 15 years, was in Seattle, on May 30, 1938. The girls met again in Seattle on May 30, 1946.

This year, on May 30, they gathered in Victoria where their friendship was formed. First time they have been together in this city in 26 years.

They visited the old office building annex and were shown through the various offices by members of the present staff.

Same place, same date, same subjects, only the picture was taken 38 years ago when the names were Misses Airlie Watson, Helen Dawson, Juanita Hastings, Edith Whitwell and Jessie Carter.

They entertained one of their former "bosses," Col. Latta and Mrs. Latta, with the only two mothers now living, Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. J. Carter, at luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

And to complete the sentimental journey, they had a picture taken, in front of the Land

Settlement Board office, on the exact spot and in the same order that a snapshot was taken on May 30, 1921 before marriage separated them.

The next reunion is already planned. All being well, the "Terrible Five" will meet in Vancouver, on May 30, 1951.

Women's Institute Memorial Scholarship

Mrs. J. H. East, Kereinos, president, Provincial Board of Women's Institutes, has announced that the first scholarship of the Women's Institutes of British Columbia is to be awarded for the fall term. This will be given to a rural girl taking the home economics course at the University of British Columbia.

This scholarship, which is called the Women's Institute Memorial in memory of past members, was started just three years ago, and has now reached the sum of $8,160, which will allow a yearly interest of $250, and the award will be an annual event. All nominations for this scholarship must be from a women's institute in the province, and must be in the hands of the provincial secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. Doe, Salmon Arm, by the first of August. The choice of candidate will be made by the provincial board. The fund is a continuing one and additional scholarships will be awarded as the amount grows.

For stability and security—vote Anson.

Principals In Home Wedding Motor On Mainland

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday afternoon by Agnes Margaret, daughter of Mrs. Annie Mitchell, and the late W. G. Mitchell, and Edward Graves Hart, son of Col. E. C. Hart, C.M.G., and the late Mrs. Hart.

The ceremony was held at the home of the groom's parents, and Rev. W. G. Wilson officiated.

The couple are now motoring on the island, and will cross to the mainland before returning to Victoria to make their home.

A soft grey model hat swathed in chiffon, and grey accessories, complemented the bride's dress of grey mesh ornamented with a silver belt. A spray of mauve orchids added a delicate color note to her ensemble.

Mrs. J. M. Elliott, matron of honor, wore a navy blue ensemble with pink accessories and corsage bouquet of pink roses.

In the absence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Josephine Godman gave the bride in marriage. She chose for the occasion a frock of peacock blue and accessories in black. Dr. G. C. Carr was best man.

At a reception following the service, J. M. Elliott proposed the toast to the bride.

Club Calendar

Pythian Sisters, Island Temple, regular meeting, tonight at 8 p.m. K. of P. Hall, Cormorant Street. . . . Oak Bay United Women's Missionary Society, regular meeting, Thursday at 2:45, church parlor. Mrs. W. F. Perry, devotionals; Mrs. F. D. Mulholland, review of study book; duet by Mrs. D. J. Butler and Mrs. W. G. Brown.

Personal Notes

Miss Hazel King, children's librarian, Victoria Public Library, left Victoria last Sunday for Winnipeg, to attend the Canadian Library Association conference there. Miss Margaret Clay, Victoria Public Library head, is flying to Winnipeg next Sunday to attend the conference.

Members of the Victorian Order of Nurses' board, traveling to Vancouver to attend the V.O.N. Regional conference in that city on Thursday, are Mrs. F. Norris, Mrs. Dudley Markham, Mrs. K. C. Sedgman, and Mrs. E. Mallek. Miss Marjorie Baird, superintendent, and Miss E. Riddell, of the local V.O.N. staff will also attend the meeting.

Among the many parties bidding adieu to Mrs. Ken Graham and Mrs. J. S. Somers, who leave for eastern centres later this month, was the sherry party given this morning by Mrs. John Butler Lynch at her home, 622 Barton Road. Mrs. Graham leaves for H.M.C.S. Cornwallis to join her husband, Cmdr. Graham, and Mrs. J. S. Somers will travel to Ottawa, where her new home awaits her.

A surprise shower was held by the staff of Scott and Peden Ltd. hardware department at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Goodman, Craigflower Road, to honor Mr. and Mrs. John Irvine, who were married in Vancouver. Mrs. Irvine is the former Miss Vera Morrison, matron of the Abbotsford Hospital. Many gifts were presented to the bridal couple. Toast was proposed by Mr. Ernie Peden, and the newlyweds received a carving set on behalf of the firm. An enjoyable evening was spent by the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Peden, Mr. and Mrs. John Court, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Goodman, and Misses Mary Craig and Virginia Goodman.

Bouquets of pink and white roses formed the setting for a bridal shower given Sunday evening by Mrs. A. C. Cawsey and her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Moody, in honor of Miss Velma Burr, who will marry AB. J. Maruca, H.M.C.S. Crescent, later this month. A corsage bouquet of pink roses was presented to the bride-to-be, and her mother, Mrs. C. W. Burr received pink carnations in corsage. Gifts, concealed in a miniature pink and white ship, were discovered at the end of a treasure hunt made by the honor guest. Others present were Mesdames E. Davy, E. Grimshaw, F. Ranson, R. Turner, C. Kibbie, H. Hamilton, and Misses Dorothy Bradshaw, Joyce Bradshaw, Yvonne and Edna Cawsey.

Two June brides-elect, Miss Sheila Jones and Miss Mayme Ophelm were honored when staff members of Rays Limited held a shower at the home of Miss Lillian Curtis. Corsage bouquets were presented to the honor guests. Those present were Mesdames J. Jones, Reba Fulthorp, Margaret Third, Marjorie Caldwell, Les Butcher and Misses Evelyn Rogers, Lois Massick, Joyce Fussey, Veronica Rivers, Audrey Cotton and Em Ophelm.

Mrs. Phyllis Pollock and Mrs. Catherine White were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home on Happy Valley Road, to honor Miss Ellen Urvid, district health nurse, who is to be married to Mr. Edgar Kinvi of Merritt, in September. Miss Urvid was presented with a corsage bouquet of carnations and moss roses, and was seated beneath a bower of pink and white streamers centred with a large white bell filled with confetti. Gifts were contained in a decorated pink and white basket. A Chinese embroidered linen cloth covered the supper table, and a large yellow bowl of shaded delphiniums formed the centerpiece. Invited were Dr. Elizabeth MacKav, and Mesdames E. Phillips, A. Turner, I. Forbes, C. Hayes, L. Willway, Gwen Hughes, Edythe White, W. Price, E. Emery, J. Blenkinsop, I. Reise, G. LeQueune, A. Baves, George Wright, Ralph Willing, A. Ramsfield and Misses Kitty Hayes, Mary Dunn and Margaret Morrow.

Honoring Miss Joan Pette, whose marriage to Mr. Albert Wells will take place Saturday, Miss Orsa-Marie Douglas and Miss Grace Adams entertained associates from the Bureau of Economics and Statistics at the home of the latter, 1210 Beach Drive, at a miscellaneous shower Sunday afternoon. The honor guest, her mother, Mrs. R. Pette, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. G. Winter, received corsage bouquets. Mrs. E. Palmer and Mrs. P. A. Macdonald presided at the tea table, centred with roses and nepita and flanked with mauve candles in silver holders. Miss Lillian Conway and Miss Betty Leonard assisted in serving. Other guests were Mesdames S. Henderson, G. Knott, A. H. Adams, T. R. Barbour and Misses Ruth Pette, Ora Chumgranes, Corene Gale, Jean Price, Evelyn McGonigle, Lorna Howwood, Ellen Dames, Joan McIntyre, Marion Watson, Peggie Kirby, Shirley Higgs, Hazel Gardner, Betty Browne, Joyce Roberts, Betty Morris, Enid Dennison, Evelyn Wood, June Hughes, Gloria Warren, Patsy Webber, Beverly Bone, Georgina Whan, Norma Wright, Barbara Hewartson and Avis Franklin.

Annual Liquor Sales Concern Of Homemakers, Council Told

"As homemakers, the economic problem is of vital interest to women, and the vast sum spent on alcoholic beverages, which now equals approximately $61 per person in British Columbia each year, could well be spent on immediate family needs," stated Rev. Aubrey Small, when he spoke to the Local Council of Women, Monday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A.

As general secretary for the British Columbia Temperance League, which he described as a "sympathetic group of people" in this province, "with no formal incorporation, who are voluntarily seeking the solution of the alcohol problem in the interests of human welfare," Rev. Small spoke on the economic aspect of the problem.

He quoted statistics on the rapid increase in the annual outlay for alcoholic beverages in British Columbia, and stated that at this time there was no end in sight to the increasing annual progressive costs.

"To combat this, the league is making a definite stand to resist all efforts to increase the facilities for alcohol sale, and for the future, our plan is a prolonged and vigorous program for adult education," he concluded.

Dr. Marian Sherman, president, presided, and reported on a meeting sponsored by the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council, when ways and means of developing leisure reading were discussed.

She stressed the need to educate adults in the choice of reading. "In this way, children can be started on a proper program of selective reading in their own home," she said.

Highlights of the National Council of Women meeting held recently in Vancouver, were given by Dr. Sherman, who was elected as vice-chairman of the mental hygiene committee, during the session.

It was announced that "I am a Canadian Day" celebrations would be held June 26 at Beacon Hill Park.

National Head Of V.O.N. Welcomed In City

Left to right, Miss E. Robertson, Vancouver, western supervisor; Miss Christine Livingstone, Ottawa, newly-appointed chief superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses of Canada; Mrs. J. H. Wilson, president, local V.O.N. board, and Miss Marjorie Baird, superintendent of the V.O.N. in Victoria. Miss Livingstone spent yesterday in Victoria in the course of her first tour of the 108 V.O.N. branches in Canada, from Sydney, N.S., to Victoria. She continued on to Vancouver last night, where she will be present at a regional conference on Thursday. Yesterday morning Miss Livingstone and Miss Robertson attended a board meeting of the V.O.N. at the Y.W.C.A. and later in the day met members of the V.O.N. staff. In the afternoon, Mrs. J. Harold Wilson entertained at a reception for the visitors at her home on Pemberton Road.

Scottish Tradition Prevails; Bride's Father Throws Coins

As two charming brides left St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, Saturday evening, their father scattered bright shiny coins to the small children outside, in true traditional Scottish custom.

Principals in the attractive double wedding ceremony performed by Rev. Alex Orr, were sisters, Miss Ivy Marie Kerr and her groom, Mr. Warren John "Buzz" Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren John Long, 3031 Jutland Road, and Miss Patricia Jean Kerr, and her groom, Ronald Henry Howard, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brooks Howard, 1302 Rockland Avenue.

The brides, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr, 711 Wilson Street, were identically gowned in traditional white satin, the shirred skirts enriched with French lace panels, and the necklines in sweetheart mode.

Coronets of orange blossoms and lily of the valley crowned their shoulder-veils, and they carried bouquets of red roses intermingled with fragrant gardenias and lily of the valley.

Both brides were given in marriage by their father. Miss Greta Molin was honor attendant for Ivy, escorted by her father, and Patricia Delamare attended Patricia, who was escorted by her brother-in-law, David Weir.

organdy were worn by the honor maids. They carried fan bouquets of blue iris and yellow rosebuds, and the blossoms were repeated in their tiara headresses.

Mr. Long was attended by Bob Long, and Jack Palmer was best man for Mr. Howard.

Ushers were Frank Kerr; C. Melryk and Keith and Graham Howard.

A reception followed at Odd Fellows' Hall. Mrs. Kerr, mother of the brides, who wore a French grey crepe frock, and mothers of the grooms, Mrs. Long, in navy blue, and Mrs. Howard, whose ensemble was in powder blue, greeted more than 200 guests with the newlyweds. James Fairall gave the toasts to his nieces.

For the honeymoon trip to Vancouver Mrs. Long wore a three-piece pearl grey gardenia suit, accessories in navy and white, and corsage bouquet of gardenias and lily of the valley. Her sister chose a similar suit in pale blue, with navy and white accessories and corsage bouquet of gardenias and sweet peas for her honeymoon motor trip to California.

NO TEDIOUS LONG-BOILING
One Minute only for both Jams and Jellies

When you use Certo or "Certo" Crystals your jams and jellies need only a ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil. This short boil does more than save you time and work.

Since so little juice has time to boil away, you get an average yield of 10 glasses where old, long-boil would only yield about 6.

And the lovely taste and colour of fresh fruit stay in your jams and jellies because the boil is too short to spoil the one or dull the other.

SURE RESULTS EVERY TIME
If you follow EXACTLY the recipe that comes under the label of every bottle of Certo or in every package of "Certo" crystals, you'll have no failures. You'll get lovely, sparkling jams and jellies every time. Different fruits need different handling, so there's a separate, easy-to-follow kitchen-tested recipe for each fruit.

Quick and Easy...Results are SURE

There's no guesswork in making jam or jelly with Certo Fruit Pectin or "Certo" Crystals. It takes no more time than to make a simple dessert. You get better set, better appearance, better taste . . . and about 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit!

Please yourself which you use. Certo and "Certo" Crystals are both nothing but fruit pectin . . . the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jelly" . . . extracted and concentrated for quicker, easier, better jam and jelly-making. The word "Certo" is a trade mark.

Judged Best Baby In Last Saturday Show

Michael Thorne Hughes is pictured with his mother, Mrs. Kenneth Hughes, when he received a prize and cup for being best baby in the six-months-to-one-year class for boys and the cup for best in show. Presenting the prizes is Sister Rose Mary, Superior of the hospital.—(Photo by Alfred Toone)

Two hundred and six babies, all born at St. Joseph's Hospital during the past year, were entered in the baby show last Saturday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, under auspices of the Junior Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital. Among the entries were babies from Salt Spring Island, Nanaimo, Jordan River and Shawinigan Lake.

Michael Thorne Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hughes, 1259 Richardson Street, was judged best baby in the show, and also won the six-month-to-one-year class for boys.

William L. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Scott, 419 Belleville Street, born April 30, won the prize for being the youngest baby in the show.

Other winners were Jacqueline Ilet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ilet, 561 Normandy Road, Royal Oak, who won the six-months-to-one-year class for girls; Linda Jean Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Taylor, 189 Maddock Avenue, one-month-to-six-month class, girls, and Edward William Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Alexander, 2781 Musgrave Street, who won the same class for boys. Terence Michael and Patrick Bruce Tibando, eight-months-old twins, won the award for best twins in the show. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tibando, 841 Selkirk Avenue.

Miss Ella Parrish was convener of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Barnes and Miss Peggy McDonald. A candy and ice cream stall was conducted by Mrs. G. W. LaCroix and Miss Margaret Goward. Afternoon tea was served in the dining-room, with Miss Mary Armitage as convener.

Miss Marjorie Press Again Heads B. & P. Women's Club

Re-elected president, by acclamation, in annual meeting, Monday evening in the club-rooms, Miss Marjorie Press will head the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club for a second year.

Other officers, also elected by acclamation, were Miss Elizabeth Forbes, first vice-president; Miss Jane Hall, second vice-president; Mrs. Ruby Masters, treasurer; Miss M. Gibson, recording secretary, and Mrs. M. Laughlin, corresponding secretary.

Directors elected at the meeting are Miss Verna Beek, Mrs. Eleanor Maunsell, Mrs. C. Henderson, Mrs. D. M. Ambrose and Mrs. M. McClelland. Mrs. Kate Farquharson convened the nominations committee, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Phipps and Mrs. Mary Cumming. Miss Edith Parsell, Mrs. Mabel Curry and Miss Mabel Cameron assisted as scrutineers.

Treasurer's report, presented by Miss Lily Henderson showed receipts of $2,897.25 with disbursements of $2,548.57. Bank balance at end of club year showed $330.42.

Reports of officers, headed by the president, Miss Press, showed an active year with the outstanding project, "The Widening Circle," a miniature products fair.

Conveners reports were as follows: Finance, Mrs. Madge Hall; rentals, Mrs. Agnes Phipps; membership, Mrs. Mae McClelland; welfare, Miss Nonie Rich; suppers, Miss Helen Cruickshank; legislation, Mrs. Kate Farquharson; Bay Wigley Scholarship; Miss Mabel Cameron; program and national and international nights, Miss Elizabeth Forbes.

At the general meeting, preceding the annual plans were made for the annual picnic at the Gordon Head home of Mrs. Madge Hall on June 26, and tentative plans were made to entertain new Canadians at a supper in the clubrooms.

Two new members, Miss Margaret Swarbrick and Miss Rosalie Cameron were named.

B.P.O.E. Auxiliary Installs Officers For Coming Year

Installation of officers of the Order of the Royal Purple, auxiliary to the B.P.O.E. Elks, took place recently in the lodge room.

During the opening ceremony the Past Honored Royal Ladies' Association presented the lodge with a new flag and visitors were introduced. Dis. Dep. Supr. Honored Royal Lady Mackie, assisted by Past Honored Royal Lady Florence Wright, installed officers as follows:

Immediate Past Honored Royal Lady, Amy Jones; Honored Royal Lady, Laura Baldwin; Associated Royal Lady, May MacBride; Loyalty Lady, Mary Walden; Legal Lady, Margaret Groves; secretary, Pearl Fevang; treasurer, Rita Cretney; chaplain, Florence Wright; conductor, Sally Begg; I.G.L., May Cox; O.G.L., Gertrude Stanger; three-year trustee, L. Ruth Waters; second-year trustee, L. Myrtle Ganner; one-year trustee, L. May Aldridge; pianist, L. Irene Simmons.

L. Evelyn Cooper was appointed historian and was installed by P.D.D.G.E.R. Bro. Bergeron of the B.P.O.E. Elks.

Dis. Dep. Supr. H.R.L. Mackie was presented with a lodge pin in appreciation of her services. L. MacBride presented immediate P.H.R.L. Amy Jones with a gift from chair officers. L. Milton and L. Fuller also presented immediate P.H.R.L. Amy Jones with a lodge ring and flowers on behalf of members.

The meeting was open to brother Elks. After the installation refreshments were served by the social committee.

Mold creamy cottage cheese and crisp green pepper slivers into a tangy apricot whole fruit nectar and gelatin mixture. Accent it with a little lemon juice. Pour into a flat pan to chill and then cut into squares to serve.

Camp Skits Add Fun To Mother-Daughter C.G.I.T. Banquet

Annual mother and daughter banquet of Fairfield United C.G.I.T. was held recently in the church hall, with more than 70 girls and mothers present. Following supper, served by members of the Jane Piercy Auxiliary, a singsong was led by Miss Lois McIntosh, departmental superintendent. Welcome was extended to mothers and guests at the head table by Lorraine Brown, departmental president, and a letter was read from Mrs. B. Varcoe, leader of the Intermediate C.G.I.T., absent owing to illness.

Toast to mothers was given by Pat Cameron, with Mrs. R. Husband replying on behalf of the mothers. Toast to the church was given by Anne Murphy and the reply was given by Rev. William Allan.

Guest speaker, Mrs. R. Garner, president of the Victoria C.G.I.T. Leaders' Council, spoke on "Camp," which was also the banquet theme. Two brief camp skits brought the livelier side of camp to the mothers, and was followed by Beverly Husband and Beverly Wells, both speaking on "What Camp Has Meant to Me." A vocal duet was given by Anne Firth and Beverly Husband.

The banquet was brought to a close with a brief candle-lighting service taken by Miss McIntosh, Lucy Parker, Marilyn Basset, Anne Murphy and Betty Anie Sutherland, followed by the traditional "taps."

Special guests at the banquet included D. Oliphant, Sunday school superintendent, and Mrs. Oliphant; Rev. and Mrs. William Allan, Mrs. D. Hofstrand, W.M.S. representative to C.G.I.T.

Supply Mattresses—Members of Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E., met at headquarters with Mrs. A. M. Florence, regent, in the chair. They decided to provide four mattresses for the chapter's hut at Sunshine Camp. Reports on the national annual meeting were given. Mrs. J. Meiss, treasurer, reported $45.64 in general account. Mrs. E. Edwards noted that articles valued at $6.85 were turned into municipal chapter, two food parcels were sent to Britain, and the usual donations of cookies were made to the Victoria Nursing Home. It was announced that a sewing tent would be held June 28 at the home of Mrs. G. Chapman, 981 Madison Avenue. Members decided to devote 10 minutes for Empire study at the start of each meeting at 2.15.

It seems that nothing is impossible these days. One is now able to buy canned chocolate milk which is ready to drink just the way it comes from its 10-ounce container. The fat content of this milk is half that found in ordinary whole grade A milk.

Senior Group

Members of the Senior Women's Auxiliary of First United Church met recently in the church hall for the closing meeting of the season. President, Mrs. R. L. Cox presided and the meeting was opened with a devotional entitled "Generosity" by Mrs. W. Walker. It was decided to sponsor a miscellaneous stall at the Protestant Orphanage garden party on Aug. 3 and to hold the auxiliary fall fair earlier this year, the tentative date being Nov. 2. It was also announced that a sum of $5,215.42 had been spent in redecoration of the church banquet hall. The next meeting, Sept. 9, will be a get-together of all groups with time allocated for any necessary individual group business, followed by refreshments and a social hour.

Garden Party At Nursing Home

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew has been invited to open the garden party to be held at the Victoria Nursing Home on June 22 from 2.30 until 5 o'clock, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Welfare Association and the Pas-a-Pas Group of First United Church. Co-conveners of the affair are Mrs. Margaret Christie and Mrs. C. C. Warren. Afternoon tea, served on the lawn, is being arranged by Mrs. D. Gregson. There will be stalls of home cooking, candy, ice cream delicatessen: a "lady of a thousand pockets" for the children and a special stall of garments made entirely by patients at the nursing home.

A special program of Highland dancing by the Adeline Duncan Highland dancers and precision drills by the Oak Bay Drill Team will be given on the lower lawn.

Proceeds are to be used entirely for a building project at the home. To Port Angeles—Arrangements were made at the last meeting of Lodge Primrose, No. 32, Daughters of England, for a trip to Port Angeles on June 22. Members interested must get in touch with the lodge president, Mrs. A. Anderson, who presided at the meeting. A concert has been arranged for June 24 with Worthy Sister M. McLaren as convener. Members of sister lodges will be special guests. The next meeting of the lodge will be held the same evening, commencing at 7.30.

Engagements

Announcements to appear under this heading will be accepted at the Times Advertising Department. Minimum charge $1.50 for 10 lines and the fee each additional line.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hobbs, 376 Winona Avenue, Ottawa, Ont., wish to announce the engagement of their only daughter, Lillian Aida, to John Richard, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Kemp, 2926 Colquitz Avenue, Victoria, B.C. The wedding will take place Friday, June 24, 1949, at 8 p.m., at First United Church.

Mrs. A. Hooper Again Heads St. George Lodge

Members of Daughters of St. George, Victoria Lodge, No. 83, re-elected Mrs. A. Hooper president for the coming year, at a meeting held recently when Mrs. M. Carter, district deputy president, made her official visit. Other officers are Mrs. P. Brien, vice-president; Miss C. Reid, financial secretary; Mrs. A. Harris, recording secretary; Mrs. K. Gaiger, treasurer; Mrs. M. Brown, first conductor; Mrs. R. Fairservice, second conductor; Miss F. Chappel, inside guard; Mrs. A. Holmes, outside guard; Mrs. A. Holmes, trustee; Mrs. R. Williams, guard captain and Mrs. R. McKenzie, chaplain. Mrs. A. Gurney is past president. Following the meeting, plans were made for a trip to Seattle in July. Mrs. Carter was officially welcomed and presented with flowers.

BUILD B.C. ON SOMETHING SOLID

British Columbia's development is coming from the industries that are here or are coming here, the mines, the pulp and paper mills, the cellulose plants, the aluminum plants and all the other great enterprises that mean money and jobs.

From the same pioneering spirit that built up this province in the past.

Not from foreign, old world theories that discourage initiative and enterprise.

Make sure that British Columbia will continue as a land of freedom and opportunity, a land of progress and development by returning the Coalition Government, the government that stands on something solid.

C.C.F. Vote Urged So Canada Can Get In Step With World

Nine hundred persons Monday night filled the Club Sirocco auditorium to hear M. J. Coldwell, national C.C.F. leader, urge Canadians to elect a C.C.F. government on June 27, so that Canada may get in step with other countries of the world.

Mr. Coldwell, the third national party leader to visit Victoria in the last two months, devoted almost his entire address to federal policies. Nevertheless the rally marked the climax of the C.C.F. provincial election campaign and was attended by the six Greater Victoria C.C.F. provincial candidates, along with William Caird and Robert Strachan, the C.C.F. federal candidates in Victoria and Nanaimo respectively.

The audience contributed $410 in a collection.

Under either of the old-line parties, Mr. Coldwell predicted, Canada's economy would slip back during the next four years. He urged Canada to move ahead with such countries as New Zealand, Australia, the United Kingdom, India, and the Scandinavian nations, where democratic socialism now was being practiced. The same trend, he said, was also noticeable in the United States, although the pace was less rapid.

CRACKS APPEAR

Already, he continued, the cracks were beginning to appear in the Canadian economy, as evidenced by the decline in markets, the slackening demand for goods and the fluctuations of the stock markets.

He warned his audience, particularly the youthful members, that Canada now was enjoying a "passing prosperity" and he recalled prices and conditions during the depression.

The current prosperity, about which the Liberal administration was so boastful, was built on the blood, sweat and tears of war, he warned.

DREW STRENGTH WANES

Mr. Coldwell predicted that the Progressive Conservatives under George Drew would lose strength in the federal general election.

"It is my considered opinion that when the polls are declared on the night of June 27, Col. Drew will have fewer followers in the House of Commons than he had at dissolution," he said.

(At a press conference earlier, Mr. Coldwell had expressed confidence that the C.C.F. would form the official opposition in the next Parliament. He admitted there was a possibility that no one party would secure a majority.)

He assured his audience that there would be no coalition of the C.C.F. with either of the old-line parties. He indicated, however, that if necessary the C.C.F. would support a specific legislative program which worked toward the implementation of its policies.

Mr. Coldwell described as a "sinister conspiracy" the relationship of Mr. Drew and Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

He warned electors against the election promises of both the Progressive Conservatives under "the gallant colonel" and the Liberals.

"Col. Drew's promises are drawn from one end of Canada to the other," he said. "Anything is offered to catch a vote. The same indictment can be made of the Liberals as of the Conservatives."

He warned that the Conservatives would attempt to remove the freedom of Canadians as they had during the depression and as Premier Duplessis has in Quebec.

C.C.F. PROMISES DIFFERENT
"Our promises are in a different class," he said. "They are not formulated by groups of strategists before elections."

"I don't make the platform," he continued. "I don't make the program. The program is laid down by the rank and file. Ladies and gentlemen, that is democracy at work."

Mr. Coldwell recalled some of the 1945 election Liberal promises, including the maintenance of price ceilings and the provision of low cost housing. He noted that in Britain subsidized apartment suites were available for £1 a week while in New Zealand the maximum rental was the equivalent of $6 at the present rate of exchange.

"Ladies and gentlemen, what we need is homes for the people," he said. "A C.C.F. government will see to it that we build homes for the people and subsidies will make them available to the people."

The Liberals had also promised higher old-age pensions without a means test, he said, and, referring to the recent increase in the basic pension, he said:

TAKES CREDIT FOR BOOST

"It never would have been raised except for the fact that there were 32 of us in the House of Commons, and they dare not face the country with their record in regard to old-age pensions."

He described the old-age pension test as one of the most topsy-turvy things he had heard of in this topsy-turvy world.

He told of the C.C.F. policy to provide a national health insurance scheme and described the federal government's $30,000,000 annual grants toward hospital construction and to improve health services as paltry.

But he warned:

"You can't get something for nothing. You cannot turn the printing presses on and get something of value. I would be only fooling you if I said these things could be given to you and your taxes would be reduced."

One source of revenue, he indicated, would be the excess profits tax. The abolition of that tax without the maintenance of price ceilings, he said, meant a gift of $466,000,000 to big business.

C.C.F. FOR FACT

Answering questions at the end of his address, Mr. Coldwell explained the C.C.F. attitude toward the Atlantic pact and said:

"I believe this makes the possibility of war less than ever before. I would not attempt to lead this party if it did not support that pact."

Asked what connection there was between the C.C.F. and the Labor Progressive Party, Mr. Coldwell said:

"If the L.P.P. had any connection with the C.C.F. I would not be on this platform tonight."

He said he had learned that the Communists in Toronto had been advised to vote Progressive Conservative because the party leaders felt chaos would sooner result in Canada under the leadership of Mr. Drew.

A Summer's Day At Shawnigan

A small boy paddles a bobbing punt on Shawnigan Lake. The shore is fringed with lacy foliage. Little ducks drowse lazily in the sun. In a moment they will come to life when a group of laughing youngsters tread the sun-baked boards and plunge merrily into the water. (Photo by Roger Kerkham)

Kipling's Daughter Bans Publication Of Father's Biography

LONDON (AP)—Rudyard Kipling's daughter said Monday she "will never permit" publication of a biography of her poet-father written at her request. She flatly refused to say why. Mrs. Elsie Bambridge, Kipling's daughter, said her decision to ban the book is final.

The biography, 160,000 words long, was written by the Earl of Birkenhead. He said she had supplied him with a stack of her father's letters, notes and manuscripts, including six unpublished poems.

He supplemented the data, he said, with extensive research and a trip to Brattleboro, Vt., where Kipling once lived.

Lord Birkenhead, now in a hospital for a minor foot operation, was quoted by London newspapers as saying:

"I know of no reason Mrs. Bambridge has refused to allow the book to be published. We had disagreed on some points in the manuscript, but I did not know she planned to ban it entirely."

NOT ANSWERING QUESTION

Pressed for reasons for her decision to prevent the Kipling biography from being published, Mrs. Bambridge said:

"It's my own affair and I do not wish to answer questions about it. If you are so curious to find out you'll just have to wait and maybe you will some day."

Under British law, books or plays dealing with actual persons may not be published without the consent of living relatives.

An autobiography of the fabulous Lawrence of Arabia, written 15 years ago and entitled "The Mint," is being withheld by the late adventurer's brother, Professor A. W. Lawrence.

Botticelli Venus Respectable Again

ROME (AP)—Venus, with Leftist support, on Monday became respectable again.

Leftists in the Chamber of Deputies raised the roof last week when they heard posters bearing a reproduction of Botticelli's famed painting of Venus nude on a seashell had been banned in Rome and Milan as a threat to public morals.

The Leftists brought the matter up again today, and Interior Minister Mario Scelba disclosed he had issued orders to police to permit the posters.

SUCCESS DEPENDS ON LOCATING CARD

My partner in a recent bridge game was Lanny Ross. I have always been an admirer of Lanny's since the days of his "Show Boat" radio show. The war interrupted his singing career for three or four years, but right after the war he started again with the "Lanny Ross Show."

Ross graduated from Yale University and then took up law, but before he could get a chance to pass his examinations for the bar, somebody offered him a nice contract on the radio. Today he is enthusiastic about his new television show.

I have a date with Lanny to go up to his farm on "Cattfish Derby" day, when he and his wife take 50 children up from

New York with a guarantee that every one gets a fish. That's the kind of fishing I like.

In today's hand he had to do some fishing around for the queen of spades to make his contract. West's opening lead of the ten of diamonds was won in dummy with the queen. A small club was led and the jack finessed, losing to West's king. West returned a small diamond, which Ross won with the king.

Now the contract depended upon finding the location of the queen of spades. Ross cashed the ace of diamonds, followed by three rounds of clubs and the ace, king and queen of hearts—and at this point he had "fished out" the queen of spades. When East showed out on the second diamond lead, West was marked with six diamonds. West had to follow to three rounds of hearts and three rounds of clubs. Therefore he had only one spade.

So Ross laid down dummy's ace of spades. When the queen did not fall from the West hand, he was safe in finessing the ten of spades.

851 Candidates In Field For Seats In New Commons

Eight hundred and fifty-one persons—15 of them women—are gunning for 262 seats awaiting occupancy in the House of Commons.

That is the total number of candidates who took out official papers and backed up their faith with deposits of $200 each Monday when nominations closed across the country for Canada's June 27 federal election.

Their numbers are far short of the record of 954 who crowded the nomination lists in the 1945 general election, when there were only 245 Commons seats at stake. The seat total has been swelled by 17 in this election—seven for Newfoundland and 10 for new constituencies created since 1945.

260 LIBERALS

The Liberals, seeking a fresh mandate June 27 after 14 years in power, put up the largest number of candidates—260—blanketing virtually every constituency in the country. They lack candidates only in two ridings in British Columbia.

Rolling close behind them in candidate strength are the Progressive Conservatives. In an all-out fight to regain the parliamentary majority they lost in 1935. They entered 249 candidates and have a full slate in every province except Quebec, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia.

The third major bid came from the C.C.F., whose leader, M. J. Colwell, has conceded that the party's hopes are to become the official opposition in the new House of Commons. They nominated 180 candidates, with their main showing in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Ontario. The Union of Electors Party, a group which advocates Social Credit monetary reform, nominated 55 candidates and concentrated 50 of them in Quebec. It has four in Ontario and one in New Brunswick.

The Social Credit Party itself has 27 candidates in the running. Seventeen are in Alberta, the backbone of the group's parliamentary representation, with four each in Ontario and Saskatchewan and two in British Columbia.

The Communist Labor-Progressive Party spread its 19 candidates thinly across the country, with the largest number—seven—in Ontario.

The remaining 61 candidates are divided among minor groups.

Forty of them are seeking victory in Quebec constituencies.

LEADERS' CONTESTS

The four major political leaders are in multiple contests. There are two candidates each opposing Prime Minister St. Laurent in Quebec East; George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, in Carleton, Ont.; and M. J. Colwell, C.C.F. leader, in Rosetown-Biggar, Sask. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, has three opponents in Alberta's Peace River riding.

STEVENS IN FIELD

A political comeback is being attempted by a figure long absent from federal wars—Hon. H. H. Stevens, Progressive Conservative candidate in Vancouver Centre. Mr. Stevens sat at Ottawa from 1911 to 1940 and thrice was a cabinet member.

A breakdown of the nominations for the 18 seats in B.C. shows 16 Liberals in the field, 15 Progressive Conservatives, three Labor Progressives, two Independents and two Social Credit candidates—the latter both last-minute entries.

Angus MacInnis is seeking reelection for the C.C.F. in Vancouver East while his wife, Grace, is carrying the same party's standard in Vancouver South.

Pro-Italy Parties Sweep Trieste Vote

TRIESTE (AP)—Parties favoring the return of Trieste to Italy have swept the free city's first municipal election.

Official returns early today from Sunday's voting gave the pro-Italian candidates 40 of the 60 city council seats.

The six pro-Italian parties received a total of 108,973 votes, to 61,136 for six parties wanting to keep Trieste independent or place it under Yugoslav rule.

The election was not a plebiscite on the international status of Trieste, but it assumed that flavor in the campaign. The council will pick a mayor and executive committee.

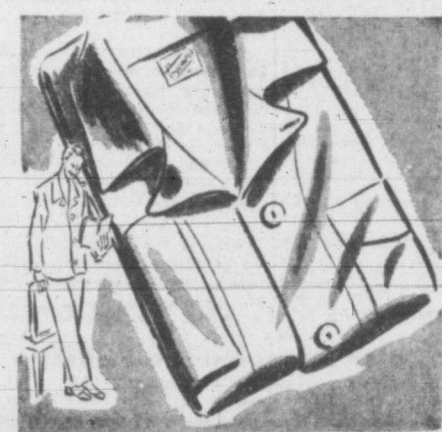

Trieste City now is occupied by British and United States forces. There was no election in the portion of the territory occupied by Yugoslavia.

The Free Territory was created by the Italian peace treaty. It is under United Nations supervision.

New LaMotta Serious Over Title Chances

DETROIT (AP)—The "new" Jake LaMotta is dead serious about winning the world middleweight championship from Marcel Cerdan at Briggs Stadium tomorrow night.

Listening to the 26-year-old challenger talk about some of his less heroic efforts of the past, you get the idea that this really may be a "new" LaMotta. He is fired with an overwhelming ambition to win the big one after years of waiting.

"Win or lose, this is something I've looked forward to for a long time," said a solemn Jake. "I always wanted a crack at that title. Year after year, I was the logical contender but I never got a chance."

"I sort of gave up hope. I didn't train right some times. I did a lot of things I shouldn't have done. I didn't train or eat right. You know, when you get discouraged, it's rough. The grind of training is tough. You want to do what normal people do. Have a plate of spaghetti or a glass of beer. Especially when you sort of give up hope."

IN TOP SHAPE

"Right now, I'm in the best condition of my career." If Jake wins tomorrow, his dough will go back into boxing. Cerdan's managers have a gimmick in the contract that says most of Jake's purse if he wins is to be held in escrow by Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association, pending a September return bout.

Meanwhile handlers of Cerdan voiced fears the Casablanca man will have to knock out LaMotta to win.

Cerdan's representative, Lew Burston of New York, appeared before boxing commissioner Floyd Stevens. He pleaded for an "even break" for the champion.

"We have been placed in a difficult position by the build-up to this fight and the pro-LaMotta sentiment which exists as a result of his frequent Detroit appearances," Burston told Stevens.

"That possibly could sway the manner in which the officials vote if the fight goes the full 15 rounds."

Stan Leonard Will Pass Up Canada's Ranking Tourneys

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stan Leonard, one of Canada's leading professional golfers, said Monday he will not compete in the Canadian Open in Toronto later this month or the C.P.G.A. tournament at the Seignior Club, near Ottawa, in September.

The Marine Drive pro, commenting on reports of a revolt by western Canadian professionals from the Canadian Professional Golf Association, said the western shotsmiths were largely in the same frame of mind.

He said he knows of other pros who will not make the eastern trip later this month.

Leonard said the reason he and other pros would not compete in the open is because the open and the C.P.G.A. tourneys are not being held close together. He said last year's C.P.G.A. meeting here agreed the two tournaments—Canada's biggest—would be.

Leonard pointed out that western competitors would have to pay for two trips east to take part in the two open tournaments.

Charles, Walcott Use Small Gloves For Title Battle

CHICAGO (AP)—Ezzard Charles and Jersey Joe Walcott will use six-ounce gloves for their June 22 heavyweight bout at Comiskey Park.

The Illinois State Athletic Commission has amended a rule which previously required eight-ounce mitts for heavyweight title bouts in New York—a state which does not recognize the Walcott-Charles go as a world championship affair.

Chairman Joe Triner announced the commission will meet Friday with the two fighters and their managers for a discussion of Illinois rules and physical examinations of the battlers. The training camps of both fighters are near Kankakee.

LEGION PRACTICE

The Canadian Legion soccer team will hold a practice at Heywood Avenue Thursday at 7. All players are asked to attend in preparation for Saturday's Province Cup match.

Frisch Will Demand More Hustle By Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cubs, embedded in seventh place, today entered a new baseball regime under the leadership of fiery Frankie Frisch.

The light-touch era of affable Charlie Grimm, steered to the plusher of a vice-president's chair in the front office of the National League club, has been supplanted by a man with a whip in his hand.

Frisch is a hard-driving graduate of the old John McGraw school. He was an acid-tongued "toughie" with the New York Giants and carried his whip-lash playing tactics with him in his managerial role with St. Louis Cardinals. His hard-fighting strategy made the Cards famous in baseball lore as the Gashouse Gang.

OPEN AT HOME

This is a big day for the old Fordham flash, who moves into a reported $30,000 a year job from the Giants' coaching lines. The Cubs, a half game ahead of last-place Pittsburgh, launched a two-week home stand in a clash with the Phillies.

In inheriting a club that has won 19 while losing 31, Frisch's first order was for more aggressiveness on the part of the players.

"I demand hustle," he said. "I'd rather have the guy who tries to go from first to third and is thrown out than the one who just loafs down to second base and is safe."

Dodgers-Cards Open Important Series

Hot Clubs In National Play Three Games; Five Players Switch Uniforms

Those old National League antagonists, the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers and the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals, go at each other tonight in the first game of a vital three-game series in St. Louis.

Brooklyn, clicking on all cylinders, leads the Cards and the third-place Boston Braves by two games and is riding the crest of a seven-game winning streak.

Brooklyn just completed a home stand that brought 11 victories in 15 starts.

The Cards are pretty hot themselves. Stan Musial and company staged a triumphant swing through the east that netted them 10 victories in 13 games.

The Braves meanwhile, open a three-game set with the seventh-place Pirates in Pittsburgh.

New York's stumbling Giants open their second tour of the west in Cincinnati and the up-and-coming Philadelphia Phillies take on the Cubs in Chicago in the lone day game in the majors.

The American League's front-running New York Yankees return home after a road trip that saw them win only eight of 15 games. The Yanks left the stadium on May 30 in first place by 4½ games.

THREE GAMES IN FRONT

Casey Stengel's crew now leads Detroit Tigers by three games. The Tigers, in fifth place, six games off the pace before Memorial Day's games, have captured 11 out of their last 15 starts.

The Tigers begin their second jaunt through the east in Philadelphia taking on the Athletics for three games.

Boston, tied with Washington for fourth place, entertains the Indians in the first of a three-game set tonight while the Senators play host to the Browns in the first of three.

No games were scheduled in either league Monday.

Five major league baseball players today swapped uniforms amid rumors that maybe a half-dozen more would change clubs before the trading deadline at midnight tomorrow.

Boston Red Sox, in a bid to strengthen their wobbly pitching staff, sent lefty Mickey Harris and outfielder Sam Mele to Washington Senators yesterday for righthander Walt Masterson.

New York Giants shipped catcher Walker Cooper to Cincinnati Reds for backstop Ray Mueller.

The grapevine has the Giants planning a wholesale shift in their personnel. They departed for Cincinnati last night without Mickey Livingston, who along with Cooper had done their tacthing. Reports had Livingston going to either Pittsburgh or Chicago White Sox.

Outfielder Willard Marshall and first baseman Johnny Mize

also are reported on the block. The Giants are looking for an established second baseman and according to the boys in the know they have their sights trained on either Ed Stanky or Sibby Sisti of Boston Braves with Marshall as the pawn. The Braves are seeking an outfielder of Marshall's class.

Mize, despite his 10 home runs, has not been hitting and his slowness at foot does not fit in with manager Leo Durocher's style of play.

YANKS AFTER OUTFIELDER

The rumor mart also was working in the American League with smoke brewing in the ranks of the pace-setting New York Yankees, the runner-up Detroit Tigers and the last place St. Louis Browns.

New York is pinning for an outfielder and it is understood that manager Casey Stengel will take a chance on Detroit's problem child, Dick Wakefield. The Yanks also would welcome Dick Kokos of St. Louis.

It's hard to tell which team got the best of the Washington-Boston swap.

Mele and Harris have been of little use of the Red Sox. Harris has been troubled with a sore arm since 1947 after being a vital cog in Boston's 1946 pennant winning machine. Mele, after a fine freshman year in 1947, slumped to .233 last season and has been riding the bench in the current race.

Masterson, with the Senators since 1939, has won three and lost three this year.

The departure of Cooper was no surprise to Giant followers. Big Coop, purchased from the Cards for $175,000 in 1946 while still in the navy, was in manager Leo Durocher's dog house, dissatisfied, and irked by the booing of Giant fans.

Mueller, 37, has been knocking around since 1932. He broke his ankle and saw action in only 14 games last year.

Caps Keep Climbing; Salem In Fourth Spot

The aspiring Vancouver Capilanos bounced Salem into a fourth-place tie with Wenatchee and cut Yakima's lead to six games with a speedy 7 to 4 victory over the Senators in last night's lone Western International League contest.

The Caps got 12 hits from the slants of Salem's ace right-hander Jim Olsen and bunched the hits for three-run bursts in the first and sixth innings and a single marker in the third.

The game was over in one hour and 31 minutes.

The win put the Caps three games ahead of Spokane and six games behind the Yakima Bears.

Meanwhile, the Athletics and Yakima were playing exhibition contests before opening a four-game series at Yakima tonight and both were losers.

The A's dropped a 3 to 1 verdict to the Mount Vernon semipro team while the Bears were routed 20 to 15 by the parent San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League.

Al Drew started for the A's, giving way to Rex Jones in the sixth when the Mount Vernon nine scored all its runs. The A's outthit the Milkmaids, eight to five.

Short scores follow:

Victoria R. H. E. 1 8 0
Mount Vernon 3 5 0
Drew, Jones (6) and Morgan; Custer and Anderson.

R. H. E. 7 12 0
Vancouver 4 9 1
Nicholas and Brenner; Olsen and Carlson.

NEW ZEALAND PUTS ON 341 RUNS IN TEST CRICKET ENGAGEMENT

LEEDS, Yorkshire, Eng. (Reuter)—New Zealand's first innings in the test cricket match against England ended today with 341 runs.

The visitors added 29 runs to their overnight score of 312 for nine wickets before losing their final wicket.

By the lunch interval on this final day of the season's first test match, England had scored 114 runs for one wicket in the second innings. England's first innings total was 372.

New Zealand's last two batters, Frank Mooney and Jack Cowie, defied the English attack for 35 minutes. Counting runs of yesterday, they added 57 before Mooney fell to a catch by Bill Edrich off Trevor Bailey, who finished with six wickets for 118 runs.

England had an early shock when Len Hutton was caught at the wicket without a run being scored, but Edrich and Cyril Washbrook pursued England's necessary policy of going for quick runs. At lunch Edrich was 70 not out and Washbrook, who injured a leg and used a runner, was 39 not out, with five extras.

REDS SIGN YOUTH

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Reds today signed Maurice Fisher, an 18-year-old pitcher who only recently was graduated from a local high school.

Fred Fleig, director of the Cincinnati farm system, said Fisher was signed to Tulsa contract but will be optioned to the Reds' class D service (Ind.) farm club.

Woodcock-Savold Fight Would Be Welcomed By N.Y.

LONDON (AP)—Promoter Jack Solomons claimed Monday he has received a tempting offer to move his "world championship" bout between Bruce Woodcock and Lee Savold to New York.

Solomons said if he couldn't rent a stadium in London with a seating capacity of 75,000 he might accept.

Woodcock, British champion, and Savold, of Paterson, N.J., are under contract to fight for Solomons here Sept. 6 for the British version of the heavyweight crown.

An American syndicate, Solomons reported, made a week-end effort to buy the fight outright, or to give him a 50 per cent interest in the promotion there. He refused to confirm published reports that the syndicate was Madison Square Garden.

ADMIT INTEREST

(Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club of New York, said "we have talked to Solomons from time to time. No decision has been reached, but we definitely are interested in bringing the match over here."

(He added that the I.B.C., which is the new boxing offshoot of Madison Square Garden, "would be even more interested in promoting a fight between the winner of the London bout and the one between Ezzard Charles and Joe Walcott in Chicago.")

Solomons was specific enough about the bait—a New York gate of approximately $800,000. He could draw about half that here in White City Stadium with the

Sluggert Hurls Aces Into Second-Place Tie

With Brian Sluggert hurling four-hit ball, manager Rom Knott's Brentwood Aces last night climbed into a second-place tie with Timber Service in the Senior A Men's Softball League by edging the Timber men, 3 to 2, at Central Park.

Anglers Usher In Derby Season With Big Dance Friday

The road to entertainment for the angling clan Friday night leads to Cordova Bay's McMorran's Pavilion, when the 1949 salmon derby season of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will be given an enjoyable sendoff with a benefit dance for the Solarium.

This spring dance, arranged through the efforts of first vice president Stan Ball, is being held in conjunction with the July 24 Times-Anglers sponsored salmon derby for the institution on the Malahat Beach shore caring for crippled children.

There will not be a nickel of expense to the whole program. Local of the Victoria Musicians' Union and Stan Cross' Orchestra have donated the music for the 9 to 1 dancing and George McMorran has donated the hall free of charge.

The night of dancing just comes 36 hours on so before the opening Saanich Inlet derby for association members. This is on Sunday, starting at 6 in the morning and closing at 4 in the afternoon.

Solarium derby committee members, Harry Woolston, Stan Ball, Stan Williams, George Mann, John Lund, Dan Thomas have tickets for those who wish them.

Dance is open to all and tickets can be obtained at the door.

One of the features of the evening will be several door prizes. Refreshments will be available.

Victory was Brentwood's second straight in as many days and came on the strength of a long home run by Jim Turner in the seventh inning with the score tied at 2 to 2.

The game, easily one of the best of the season, saw Aces take a two-run lead in the first inning, hold the margin until the sixth when Timber Service rallied to knot the score and then win it the eighth on Turner's long smash.

Three singles and a walk gave Brentwood their first inning margin. A base on balls, an error by Hal Yardley and a bunt single loaded the bases for Timber Service in the sixth. Len Scott singled to score one run, the tying marker coming on a fielders choice.

Ray Hough went all the way for the losers and after a shaky start hurled good ball, limiting the Aces to nine hits. Fielding highlight of the game was Frank Kilshaw's sensational catch of Doug Hudlin's fly to right field in the eighth, on which he threw out Jack Okell at the plate to cut off the tying run.

FIVE STRAIGHT

Sidney ran his unbeaten streak to five games in the Women's B circuit last night by topping Red's Service, 11 to 5, at Sidney.

Toppers ran wild at the expense of Eatons to run up a 24 to 6 triumph and move into second place vacated by Red's, who slipped to fourth.

In the Sidney victory, the league leaders scored all their runs in the first three innings, counting four in the first, three in the second and four in the third.

Pat Hannah hit a three-run homer for Toppers in her last game with the club. Toppers scored in every inning.

SENIOR B MEN

In senior B men's games, Garrison trimmed Selkirk Lumber, 13 to 2; Hemsworth's nipped Sidney Roofing, 5 to 1, and Gordon Head trounced Westinghouse Airways, 14 to 8.

B.C.E.R. measured Warner's C.V.O., 16 to 12, in a senior C game.

Short score of senior A game follows:

Brentwood R. H. E. 3 9 1
Timber Service 2 4 1
Sluggert and J. Turner; Hough and Wilson.

Chinese Students will meet Douglas Tire in tonight's senior A men's softball game at Central Park 6.45.

Lodigiani Remains With San Francisco

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dario Lodigiani, Oakland's castoff infielder is definitely the property of San Francisco Seals, Pacific Coast League president Clarence Rowland ruled Monday.

The league board of directors upheld Rowland's decision by a three-fourths vote.

When two clubs claim a player under the waiver rule, Rowland said, the team lowest in the standings gets first choice. San Francisco fell into that category at the end of the five-day waiver period.

French Tennis Stars Score Surprising Win

PARIS (AP)—France's surprising tennis players swept on a 3-2 upset victory over Czechoslovakia Monday in the quarter-finals of European zone Davis Cup competition and qualified to tackle Hungary in the next round.

A rumor promptly circulated in tennis circles that the victorious Frenchman would refuse to go to Budapest, behind the "iron curtain," to play the semifinal against the Hungarians, but there was no official confirmation.

In the event the rumor proves to be true, it was suggested that the tie might be transferred to neutral courts in Switzerland. Hungary reached the semifinal by overwhelming the Swiss 5-0 last week.

BERNARD WINS CLINCHER

Marcel Bernard, whose amazing triumph over the left-handed Czech ace, Jaroslav Drobny, in the opening singles match on Saturday started the downfall of last year's European zone champions, settled the issue by defeating Vladimir Cernik in the first of yesterday's concluding singles, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1.

That made the count 3-1 for the Frenchmen. In the closing match Drobny too late redeemed himself with a 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 rout of Robert Abdesselam.

In the only other European zone quarterfinal still in progress, Yugoslavia and Sweden, were deadlocked with a singles victory apiece.

Torsten Johansson, Sweden's No. 2 player, squared the series Monday by defeating Yugoslavia's Drago Mitic 6-4, 6-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, at Zagreb.

Robinson Blankets Hitting Departments

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn has taken over the batting leadership in the National League and is doing his best to monopolize the specialty departments.

The stellar second-baseman raised his average seven points to .349 during the last week. He's tied for the lead with his Dodger mate, Pee Wee Reese, for runs scored, 44, and stolen bases, 11.

Robinson also leads the league in hits with 73, is tied with Carl Furillo of Brooklyn, and Roy Smalley of Chicago for tops in triples with five and is tied for second with Willie Jones of Philadelphia in the two-base-hit department with 14. Eddie Waitkus of Philadelphia has the most doubles, 16.

Robinson and Red Schoendienst of St. Louis were the only ones of last week's top 10 hitters to improve their average during the week. Schoendienst is second to the Brooklyn star with .340, up five points during the week.

Ralph Branca of Brooklyn continued to pace the pitchers. He has the best average, 8-1, .889, and the most strikeouts, 52.

KELL MOVES AHEAD

CHICAGO (AP)—Third-baseman George Kell of Detroit Tigers holds a 21-point lead in the American League batting race.

Kell last week climbed five points to .346. At the same time, outfielder Dom DiMaggio of Boston, who had trailed Kell by only two points, slumped to a third-place .318.

Into the runner-up spot moved Philadelphia's Eddie Joost with .325, an increase of three over last week. Kell and Joost were the only top runners to make any progress in the week ended Sunday.

Boston's Vern Stephens has become a double leader in the specialized department with 15 home runs and 54 runs batted in. Kell led in hits with 73 and Joost's 54 runs headed that department.

New York's Vic Raschi paced the pitching department with a 9-1 record for a .900 percentage.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—At this time a year ago, New York Giants had sputtered briefly from second to first place in the National League. Then they spun dizzily downward to fourth place and within a month Mel Ott had been given the bounce as manager and Leo Durocher was imported from Brooklyn for the job. They finished fifth after a brief August fling at second.

Last week the Giants tumbled from first place on Sunday to fifth on Friday and now they're five games behind the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers. No wonder they're driven to such desperate measures as trading one old catcher for another old catcher. What's the next move? Maybe a change of scenery will do them both good.

Annual Woodenface Contest Eliminations Begin Today

Mipor Baseball Week got away to a good start at Macdonald Park Sunday with four well-played games.

Today, "Slim" Hunt, Athletic Park caretaker, will start the kids off on the first series of eliminations in the annual woodenface competition at Athletic Park.

Eliminations will continue through the week until Saturday when the three finalists will meet under the lights in the finals. First prize for this event will be given by the Victoria Athletics.

The race for league honors in the senior section of the Minor Baseball Association is so close at the present time that officials will not know the competing teams in this division for the Saturday fixture at Athletic Park—one of three games scheduled—until Wednesday night.

The same situation holds true in the junior division with Tillamook assured of first place for the time being. However, their opponents in the all-star Saturday triple-header will not be known for a few days.

The third game of Saturday's three-game program will bring together Knights of Pythias and a team of all-stars selected from the rest of the league.

Highgate, Middlesex, Eng., is noteworthy as having been the place where Bacon and Coleridge died.

Says Wording Of By-Law 'Sheerest Gobbledy Gook'

Validity of the city building by-law and criticism of its wording, came from W. Berkeley Monteith, defence counsel, this morning in city police court when he was defending a Hindu charged under the provisions of the by-law.

He was appearing for Knuden Lal on a charge of maintaining a woodyard in the city without a valid permit.

"The city has gone beyond its powers granted by the Municipal Act," declared Mr. Monteith.

As a result of this statement, the case was remanded for one week at the suggestion of Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, that both sides present written argument. Defence counsel said he was agreeable to this.

Mr. Harrison said the case depended on whether the by-law complies with the Statutes.

After evidence had been presented that Lal applied for a permit to the City Council last year and that "no action" was taken on it, Mr. Monteith started his attack on the wording of the by-law.

"The by-law merely says one must 'subscribe' to certain regulations, but does not demand he do it," said counsel.

"Such wording is the sheerest 'gobbledy-gook.' How can men with a very limited knowledge of English be expected to understand and interpret such regulations?" asked counsel.

MAGISTRATE'S COMMENT

Even Magistrate H. C. Hall wondered about the word "subscribe."

"They can make regulations, but can they make you subscribe to certain things?" he asked.

Reference was being made to clauses A. and F. of section 5316 of the by-law.

A—No permit referred to in section 5312 in respect to woodyards shall be issued, or if issued, shall be valid unless and until the owner or operator subscribes to the following regulations.

F—That a copy of the regulations herein specified shall be subscribed to by the owner or operator of each woodyard who shall be furnished with a true copy thereof.

Evidence of Deputy Fire Chief Phillip Guy was that on May 17 accused did not have a legal fence as required by the by-law. The woodyard, located between Finlayson, Larch and Hemlock Street, was not in a reasonably tidy condition, he said. A week later, the fire official said, he again visited the woodyard and still found the legal fence absent, but the yard cleaned up and reasonably tidy.

B. L. Hewartson, city lands commissioner, told the court that the property in question was disposed of by the city in 1944 for woodyard purposes. It was not zoned then "but it has been since."

M. F. Hunter, city clerk, told the court that no permit had been issued to accused in 1948 or 1949.

Lal is charged with allowing to keep chips and fragments of wood upon land within the city otherwise than in a receptacle made of incombustible material.

Amrik Singh is also facing two similar charges. He was remanded for one week.

A broken right forearm and facial lacerations, was suffered by William Casson, 1086 Colville Road, when the car he was driving crashed into a B.C.E.R. pole on Johnson Street Extension, east of Tyee Road last night.

City police took the injured man to Jubilee Hospital. Damage to the car was estimated at $300. Top of the pole was broken off. Casson told police he suffered from "blackouts."

'Old Vic' Outlasts All Large C.P.R. Ships As Princess Charlotte Retired

Announcement Monday that the C.P.R.'s Princess Charlotte would be retired on her arrival here this afternoon means that the old Princess Victoria has outlasted all the larger B.C. Coast Service steamers. The old "Vic" is still in service on the Vancouver-Nanaimo run. In the B.C. Archives photo above, the Charlotte, at right, with smoke pouring from her funnels, is seen racing with the Princess Victoria. The Victoria, now remodeled and widened, was one of the chief participants in the rate war of 1908-09. The Princess Charlotte was a latecomer but still took an active part in the days when a trip to Seattle cost 25 cents.

After 40 busy years plying the waters of the west coast, the Canada Pacific steamship Princess Charlotte was withdrawn from service following her arrival here from Seattle this afternoon.

Her place will be taken by the Princess Patricia, which will make her service debut when she leaves Vancouver on the triangle run Wednesday morning. Built at the Fairfield yards at Glasgow, Scotland, in 1908, the fine old three-stacker was the latest word in ships of her sort when she entered service on the coast Jan. 11, 1909.

A twin-screw steamer, capable of more than 20 knots, she distinguished herself shortly after arrival by breaking the record for the run between Victoria and Seattle previously held by the Princess Victoria. Her time from Brochle Ledge to slow at Seattle was three hours, 14 minutes, four minutes faster than the "Vic."

Weighing close to 4,000 tons, she was easily the largest ship in B.C. coast service at that time and, with accommodation for 1,000 day passengers, she was soon playing a major part in handling the growing west coast traffic.

Following the arrival of the Princess Marguerite and Princess Kathleen in 1924, she was assigned to the Alaska summer cruise run and brought attention to the full possibilities of this popular trip. All personnel from the Charlotte will be transferred to the Patricia, which will "deadhead" to Vancouver tonight and take the morning trip from that port to Victoria Wednesday. The Patricia, which can carry 2,000 day passengers and between 60 and 70 cars, will be commanded by Capt. M. Mackinnon, formerly of the Princess Kathleen.

The latter vessel, meanwhile, has just completed her annual overhaul, and will leave the Esquimalt drydock today, head for Vancouver, and will take the first of eight Alaska cruises from there Wednesday night.

City engineers are studying sewage pollution of Ross Bay and Foul Bay from Victoria's main sewer outlet at Clover Point, but will not be able to halt the closing of the area to swimmers.

This was reported today by Cyril Jones, chief engineer, following an announcement by Elwood Gropp, chief sanitary inspector, that the water in the area was polluted heavily and was out-of-bounds to bathers.

Signs to this effect will not be erected until the end of the week but swimmers should not go near the water now. The signs will be erected at two approaches to Foul Bay, at the foot of St. Charles Street and at the foot of Moss Street.

Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer, said most of the waters around the city were polluted from the many sewer outlets draining into them. But the Ross and Foul Bay areas were worse than others.

"Foul Bay is certainly the right name for it," Dr. Gayton said.

The problem was not new. The health department recommended to City Council last year that something be done to clear the water.

The engineer, Mr. Jones, said he had been instructed by the public works committee to investigate a possible solution and that the work was progressing.

"But we are not in a position yet to say which would be the most economical way of attending to the matter," Mr. Jones said.

A settling basin or septic tank might be installed at the outlet, or the big open pipe might be extended further out to sea.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, public works committee chairman, said the situation was disgraceful and something had to be done immediately. The cost of correcting the trouble was the problem.

In his report which resulted in closing of the beaches, Mr. Gropp said actual solids of sewage were found floating in the water where swimmers bathed.

The C.C.F. is the surest safeguard against Communism in Canada because it will assure the people a just distribution of the available wealth, Mrs. A. P. Rayment, C.C.F. candidate in Victoria, told an election rally in Woodsworth Hall this afternoon.

Mrs. Rayment claimed that the Communists had wormed their way into every organization in Canada that is of any importance, including government departments, as was plainly shown in the recent spy trials, and it was not to be expected that the C.C.F. would escape.

"Nevertheless no Coalition candidate can say with honest conviction that he or she believes that the C.C.F. welcomes this infiltration," she said.

Mrs. Rayment also scored the suggestion of Finance Minister Anscomb that capital would not come to B.C. under a C.C.F. administration.

"If he knows anything about capital he must realize that it will go anywhere that a profit is to be made," she said.

"The people of B.C. cannot expect a strong, dependable administration from a combination of two parties too weak to stand on their own feet, propping each other up, trying to hold back the rise of the party of the future, backed by the common man, the C.C.F."

Mrs. May Campbell, another C.C.F. Victoria candidate, said that it was in desperation that the two moribund parties were

Talent Quest Winner May Appear In Hollywood Bowl

The winner of the Daily Times Talent Quest may appear in Hollywood Bowl.

Roy Gordon, Hollywood impresario and long-time talent scout, who is running the quest, said today the winner of the Vancouver Island championship will probably get a chance to appear in a talent show in the famed bowl.

"It will be a marvelous chance for the lucky winner," he commented.

Tonight at the Odeon Theatre, when the second round of the second half of the Daily Times Talent Quest is held at 8:30, Mr. Gordon will show Victorians what some of the talent he has uncovered in Tacoma looks like.

Appearing as guest stars will be Marlene Berger and Michael Tibbett, teen-ager dance team, who will shortly be leaving for a trip to Hollywood—their reward for winning a talent hunt in the Puget Sound city.

Other guest artists on the Odeon stage this evening will be Gary Smele, young impersonator; "Mickey" Brown, singing and guitar-playing sailor who won last week's contest, and Beverly Forbes, 19-year-old singer from Nanaimo who was runner-up last week.

Among those who will seek top approval from the audience in tonight's contest are Gerald James, who plays piano boogie, and Frank Rodwell, 17, who will perform a Russian dance.

Several other acts are being auditioned this afternoon by Mr. Gordon, best of which will appear tonight.

The Cubanaires will be on hand with their usual lively Latin-American music.

Floor Requirement In Uplands Boosted

Oak Bay council at a meeting Monday night gave first and second readings to a by-law which provides that houses in a large part of the Uplands must have a minimum floor area of 1,500 square feet.

Previously, houses with a minimum floor area of 1,200 square feet were permitted.

The council decided to increase the minimum size of houses rather than boost the minimum cost of home construction, set many years ago at $10,000.

British Columbia Historical Association will meet next Monday in the Provincial Library at 8:30. Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane will speak on "Looking Backward in the Administration of Justice in Victoria."

After 40 busy years plying the waters of the west coast, the Canada Pacific steamship Princess Charlotte was withdrawn from service following her arrival here from Seattle this afternoon.

Her place will be taken by the Princess Patricia, which will make her service debut when she leaves Vancouver on the triangle run Wednesday morning. Built at the Fairfield yards at Glasgow, Scotland, in 1908, the fine old three-stacker was the latest word in ships of her sort when she entered service on the coast Jan. 11, 1909.

A twin-screw steamer, capable of more than 20 knots, she distinguished herself shortly after arrival by breaking the record for the run between Victoria and Seattle previously held by the Princess Victoria. Her time from Brochle Ledge to slow at Seattle was three hours, 14 minutes, four minutes faster than the "Vic."

Weighing close to 4,000 tons, she was easily the largest ship in B.C. coast service at that time and, with accommodation for 1,000 day passengers, she was soon playing a major part in handling the growing west coast traffic.

Following the arrival of the Princess Marguerite and Princess Kathleen in 1924, she was assigned to the Alaska summer cruise run and brought attention to the full possibilities of this popular trip. Circus Date Change Request Withdrawn

The Kinsmen Club is "more than willing" to withdraw a request it made to City Council last week that Dailey Brothers' Circus not be allowed to show here on July 1.

The Kinsmen thought the circus might interfere with an air show it is staging at Patricia Bay that day.

As a result the council tabled for two weeks a request from the circus that it be allowed to set up its big top at Victoria West Park for shows June 29, 30 and July 1.

Some aldermen feared that shelving of the request for two weeks (until the council meets again) might not give the circus enough time to make its arrangements for coming here.

In their letter to the city today, the Kinsmen said their request merely was to avoid doubling up of dates. They thought perhaps the circus could give a three-day showing starting a day earlier.

They said they did not want to be responsible for a cancellation of the circus which would create a hardship to the children of the city.

It was pointed out that children under 16, accompanied by their parents, would be allowed into the air show free of charge.

Three Inspectors Added By Department

Appointment of three school inspectors who will join the provincial education department's staff Aug. 1 was announced today by Education Minister W. T. Straith.

At the same time Mr. Straith announced the retirement of Inspector V. Z. Manning, who, he said, had rendered outstanding service in education in British Columbia during the past 28 years.

J. J. McKenzie, present principal of South Park School, Victoria; R. G. Williston, supervising principal, Prince George High School, and Ivan H. R. Jeffery, principal of the elementary-junior high school, Trail, have been added to the department's inspection staff. The inspectors will receive postings to individual inspectorates early in the summer.

Publicity Bureau To Be Open Longer

The summer tourist season is now well under way in Victoria and to handle all the inquiries made by visitors, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is going to extend its hours.

Commencing today, the bureau will be open from 8.30 a.m. to 8 p.m. each day except Sunday.

George I. Warren, bureau commissioner, reported today that 327 persons called at the bureau Saturday asking for aid and information.

The bureau's new location is such that tourists can't help seeing it, Mr. Warren said. For this reason, the bureau will be busier this year than ever before.

Set Trial Date For Pistol Charges

Chow Fook Cehong and George Gee, young Vancouver Chinese, were remanded to Thursday for trial on two charges alleging unlawful possession of a pistol, when they appeared before Magistrate H. G. Hall in city police court Monday. They elected trial before Magistrate Hall and entered pleas of not guilty.

Charges allege that they were occupants of a car in which an unregistered pistol was concealed.

James Proudfoot is counsel for Gee and W. A. Brethour for Cehong.

Acrobats Entertain Hospital Veterans

A group from Victoria Pro Rec visited the Veterans' Hospital Sunday afternoon and gave a varied and pleasing program of acrobatics on the lawn at the hospital entrance.

The display was organized by Ed Kelter, with George Smith, instructor, in charge. Other members of the troupe were: Jack Moffat, Bill O'Brien, Bon Jackson, John Crossley, Jack O'Neill, Harry Cutbert, Myrna Barr, Betty Mae King, Jeanette Christian, Theresa O'Brien and Frances O'Brien.

LIMIT TO EVERYTHING

If you have invested in a garbage disposal unit for your kitchen sink, don't risk damage by putting shells, glass, tin or general trash in it. A unit will grind up food wastes and even some types of meat bones.

Lack Of Water Facilities In Ward Six Responsible For Loss Of Keating Home

Because ward six in Saanich lacks proper water facilities the five-room home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Leno, Mount Newton Cross Road, burned to the ground Monday afternoon.

Saanich firemen were at the fire a bare five minutes after it had been discovered. And although by that time flames had gained a strong foothold inside the building, fire fighters were soon in command of the situation.

With hoses run out from their pump truck, firemen extinguished exterior flames, then moved indoors. Just as they thought they had the fire almost under control, the fire truck's 280-gallon tank ran dry.

There were no nearby hydrants or water taps to which the firemen could turn. The wells in the farming district proved to be of no help, either.

Within a minute the fire again had the upper hand. High flames shot through the roof and the building was beyond saving.

Firemen, berry pickers and neighboring farmers stood helpless as they watched the building carbonize before their eyes. Mrs. Leno stood with the others.

Lieut. Arthur Logie, who headed the Saanich fire crew, told the Times while flames were still shooting skyward: "We had her just about licked when we ran out of water. There was no well nearby that we could get water from. If there had been a hydrant, we would have got it easy."

J. A. L. Wood, president of the Saanich Community Club, was critical of the whole set-up. "This is the second time this has happened," he said. "It's just the same as the Chornlesky fire."

(The Chornlesky family, consisting of father, mother and three children, lost its Keating home early in April.)

Referring to the firemen Mr. Wood continued: "First they have water; then they run out. We're paying taxes for fire protection. We're getting nothing for it."

The Leno home was a converted army hut. It was purchased from War Assets and moved from Patricia Bay airport to the Mount Newton Cross Road site in 1946. A lot of time and money had been put into converting it into a comfortable home.

The fire started in the kitchen. Mrs. Leno had just made some strawberry jam and was melting some paraffin wax to seal the jars. She left the wax in a saucepan on an electric hotplate while she went to give instructions to some newly-hired pickers who had been engaged to harvest her husband's strawberry crop.

While in the field Mrs. Leno noticed smoke coming out the kitchen window. She ran back to the house to find the kitchen ablaze. She went to a drawer and got some valuable papers and some photograph negatives and rushed out.

An alarm was then put through to the Saanich fire department. Later equipment from the Sidney volunteer fire department arrived on the scene with a crew of fire fighters headed by Chief Art Gardner. Air force firemen from Patricia Bay also attended under the direction of Corp. W. Maggs. Maggs.

Although visibly shaken by the loss of her home Mrs. Leno did not break down. She was most concerned over her husband's reaction.

Mr. Leno has been confined to Royal Jubilee Hospital for a month suffering from a serious heart condition.

"He looked on this place as a Garden of Eden," Mrs. Leno said.

The Lenos settled in Keating five years ago after coming from the east. Their home was only partly insured.

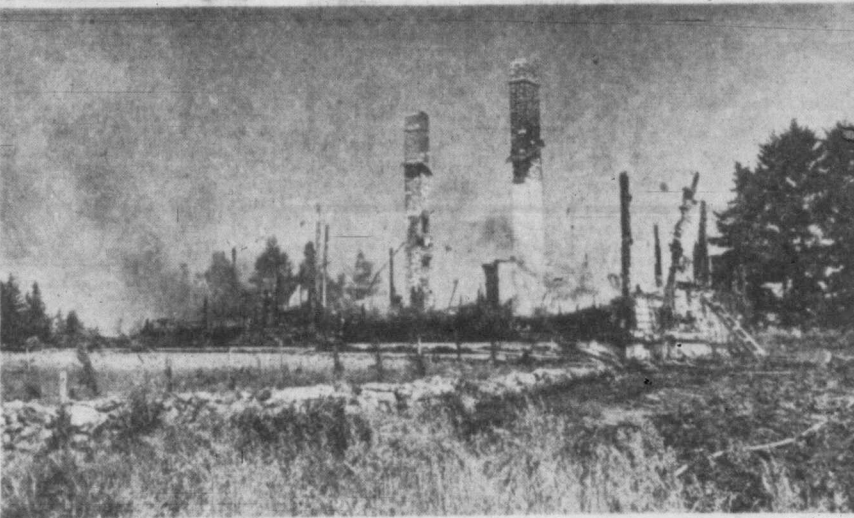

Mrs. Leno was offered shelter by neighbors but decided to take refuge with relatives in the city. The Lenos have one son, Frank, and a daughter, Marjorie, both in Victoria.

A minute before this picture was taken, the fire in the Leno home had almost been brought under control. The fire gained the upper hand, however, when firemen ran out of water. Picture shows flames just breaking through roof.

By the time firemen had taken their truck to refill its water tank and returned to the scene, the house was beyond saving. Note neighboring farmers in foreground working feverishly to knock out burning straw in strawberry patch.

All that remained of the Leno home after the fire had had its way were these two chimneys. The fire was similar in many respects to another which early in April razed the home of the Chornlesky family, also residents of the Keating district.

60 Fleeing Baltic Refugees In Tiny Ship From Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A small ship was reported Monday night en route from Sweden to Canada with 60 desperate Baltic country refugees—more than three times its approved capacity.

Most of those aboard beat police attempts to keep them off the 18-ton Briljantin. Reports from Goteborg, western Swedish port, said police had approved passage of 18 persons last Thursday.

Forty or so were taken off at Stenungsund, north of Goteborg, and the Briljantin sailed without them after the skipper said he was sailing for Uddevalla, north of Stenungsund.

The Briljantin sailed south, however, and at a small village those previously removed trooped back aboard.

There was no food aboard, but it was believed the Balts had stores cached on a small island where the small vessel had been cruising.

The same craft set out last fall for the United States, but had to be towed back to Sweden when its engine stalled.

Round-World Flight By Way Of Poles Planned

TOPEKA, KAS. (AP)—Capt. Bill Odom, who recently established a record for non-stop flight in a light plane, says he has his sights set on a new round-the-world flight.

"My pet ambition," said Odom, "is to fly around the world over the north and south poles."

"If my wishes come true, that flight probably will be made this fall."

Man From Rhode Island New Rotary President

NEW YORK (AP)—British-born Percy Hodges, 47, of Pawtucket, R.I., Monday was elected president of Rotary International by acclamation at the 40th annual Rotary convention, the biggest in the service organization's history.

Top U.S. Banker Leaves $480,000

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Banker Amadeo P. (A.P.) Giannini, who often told friends he had "no intention of dying a millionaire," left an estate valued at less than $480,000. His will was filed today for probate.
Founder of the vast Bank of America, Giannini died at his San Mateo home on June 3.

'Daylight Robber' Was Delivery Man

Detectives Fearon Woodburn and Maurice Wilkinson quickly put an Olive Street resident's mind at rest this morning when they found out his alarm about a daylight robber bent on breaking into his home was a case of imagination.
Attending in response to the alarm turned in by a neighbor, the plainclothesmen found Steven W. Findlay, of the electric service at Colwood Corners, was at the rear of the house making delivery of an electric stove that had been ordered.

Regina Women Aid B.C. Berry Harvest

REGINA (CP)—Approximately 15 women berry-pickers from Regina are scheduled to leave the city Tuesday and Wednesday for Mission, B.C., where they will assist in harvesting the British Columbia fruit crop. Leyton Robinson, manager of the National Employment Office in Regina, said today.
More volunteers for the summer work probably will be needed in the next week or two, he said.

Mrs. D. Steeves May Sue Wisner On Red Flag Issue

VANCOUVER (CP)—A C.C.F. rally's singing of "The Red Flag" emerged today as the most fiery topic in tomorrow's British Columbia provincial election.
Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, provincial president of the C.C.F., threatened in a statement to sue Attorney-General Gordon Wisner for libel if he repeats a report attributed to him that "The Red Flag" sung at a C.C.F. meeting Saturday is the same song as the Communist Internationale.
She said the C.C.F. also will take libel action against any Coalition candidate who states that the C.C.F. is linked with Communism. She said Mr. Wisner's statement, made last night to 400 women at a tea here, implies the C.C.F. is linked with Communism.
Mr. Wisner today issued this statement: "She can take what steps she sees fit to take. In this country, unlike many other countries, there is free access to the courts for anyone."

Advance Murder Theory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Investigators still are mystified over the deaths of an elderly Vancouver couple whose bodies were found in their home Sunday.

Examination of the bodies has so far failed to show what killed 67-year-old Michal Geluch and his 65-year-old wife, Mary.
The police scientist says it may take 10 days of exhaustive tests to decide the cause of the twin deaths.

Investigators think Mrs. Geluch may have been strangled, but decomposition of the body makes it impossible to find any marks of violence.

Her sister, a Mrs. Woran (first name not available) is due to arrive here today from Edmonton.
Mr. Geluch's head was bruised and his finger and tongue were cut, but investigators say none of these injuries could have caused his death.
If it was a double murder—and police are working on that theory—the motive is still lacking.

Police Chief Walter Mulligan says that, contrary to earlier reports, the house was not ransacked.

Police also point out that there was no indication that the house had been forcibly entered. The front door was locked and an inner door from the kitchen to a porch at the rear also was locked, although the outer was not.

Rock Barrage Hits S.I.U. Ship's Crew

VANCOUVER (CP)—Members of the Seafarers' International Union crew aboard the freighter Ss. Rockside ducked for cover when a barrage of rocks came over the side of the ship.

They claimed the rocks were "fired" by slingshots aboard the Ss. Triport, manned by a crew of the rival Canadian Seamen's Union.

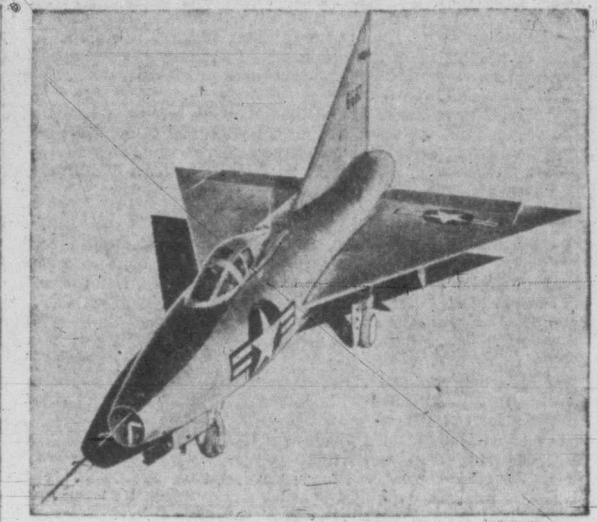

All was peaceful by the time police reached the scene. One constable reported the barrage had lasted for five or ten minutes.

Divorce Dismissed

TACOMA (AP)—The divorce action of U.S. Senator and Mrs. Harry P. Cain—has been dismissed. It was revealed here this afternoon. The action was taken Monday by Superior Judge Hugh J. Rosellini on action of Mrs. Cain's attorney.

Aircraft's New New Look

This jet-powered air force research plane was built by Consolidated Vultee to prove the design superiority of the triangle-shaped wing over conventional "sweptback" styles. It is now being tested at the Muroc, Calif., Air Force base. Engineers say the new wing offers far less drag and therefore provides greater performance in the transonic and supersonic speed ranges.

Lewis Splits Industry For Best Wage Bargain

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John L. Lewis today exposed strategy of separating the coal industry into several parts in an apparent effort to drive the best possible wage contract bargain.
Meanwhile, the coal operators appeared headed for a split of their own over a reported plan to name a "czar" for the industry.

These developments came in the second day of a week-long holiday of Lewis' 480,000 hard and soft coal diggers.

Lewis today asked for northern, western and anthracite (hard coal) operators to meet with him to discuss a new contract.

He already has undertaken contract conferences with southern operators of the U.S. Steel Corporation's captive mines (bituminous pits wholly owned by steel companies).

His intent presumably would be to make effective nationally the best terms he can obtain in any one of the divisional conferences.

In another development completing the cycle of moves for new contracts in all divisions of the coal-producing industry, Lewis made public at Philadelphia today a letter asking for contract talks in the anthracite coalfields. There was no indication of what the demands will be.

The present anthracite agreement has no expiration date, and does not contain the "willing and able" clause under which the U.M.W. said it ordered the nationwide shutdown.

Industry sources said it was likely the U.M.W. request for a meeting would be approved. There are some 80,000 workers in the eastern Pennsylvania anthracite field.

Right now the 400,000 bituminous diggers and 80,000 anthracite miners are spending their time fishing or resting.

Several hundred pickets are patrolling the mine fields in an effort to convince non-union workers that it's a good idea to stay out of the pits.

There's been a little violence in West Virginia and Alabama. Pickets blocked U.S. Route 19 near Clarksburg, W.Va., and upset several trucks.

The "holiday" this week will cost the miners an estimated $20,000,000 in wages.

No War Will Start While U.N. In Session, Lie Declares

NEW YORK (AP)—Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of the United Nations, predicted today that "no war of importance will ever be started while the (U.N.) General Assembly is in session."

"An aggressor just could not get away with it," he told the 40th annual Rotary International convention.

Lie said the Assembly is valuable because it gives smaller countries "a chance to act as checks and balances upon the power . . . and . . . the power conflicts of the great countries."

Taking a broader view of the future, the chief United Nations administrative officer told the Rotarians that if war can be averted in the next 50 years it may be averted for all time.

Despite difficulties and the failure to end armaments production or agree on an atomic control plan, Lie said much has been accomplished. The most notable example was the U.N.'s success in producing an agreement to lift the Berlin blockade, which Lie termed the "most important and most dangerous" of postwar crises.

Epidemic Spreads; Prince George Appeals For Nurses

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—A dramatic public appeal for nurses was issued today by Prince George Hospital following mounting incidence of a mystery epidemic which has already attacked upwards of 300 people here.

The hospital isolation ward is full and additional wards cannot be put into operation until nurses come forward. The staff is badly overworked and even before the epidemic struck, nurse shortage had necessitated closing of private wards.

The epidemic, reports Dr. T. Patterson, government health officer, is caused by a virus of unknown origin. It attacks through the throat, starting with swollen glands and continues with severe sore throat, headache and comparatively high temperature.

Whole families have been stricken, and the illness attacks both the healthy and the weak. It is not thought to be due to milk or water supplies.

Many doctors have been without a full night's sleep for many days and one doctor had 21 calls for assistance in two hours.

Antibiotics are useless for combating the infection and penicillin is of no avail, but sulfa drugs have proved beneficial in some cases.

Laymen say dust blown by specially strong winds this year may be the cause. Others ascribe it to exceptionally severe winter in the interior.

20 Loggers Battle Upcoast Slash Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—Twenty upcoast loggers today battled a two-acre blaze in old timber slash near Half Moon Bay, 40 miles north of here.

The fire, which broke out Monday afternoon, was surrounded by fire fighters. Forestry officials said the situation was in hand "unless a wind suddenly blows up."
